Duke Accused Of Turning Home Into Hippie Haven

WOBURN, England (AP) — Angry villagers accused the showman Duke of Bedford Thursday of turning his stately home into a hippie haven—and complained that they have to pick up the rubbish.

Jazz festivals and other teenage delights staged by the duke in the grounds of Woburn Abbey have so incensed the villagers that some are even suggesting he should be deduced—stripped of his title.

"It's a scandal," said Robert Craig, who runs an antique gallery. "My mother and I are prisoners in the shop on Sundays and holidays. We have to lock ourselves in to keep the beatniks out."

"The duke's ancestors were given the title for service to the community. If the present holder brings trouble to the locality, I think he should lose his dukedom."

A jazz festival at the Abbey two weeks ago attracted 20,000 youngsters to the village. Other recent attractions included a festival of flower people and a nudists' convention.

"They were savages," said Mrs. Craig of the jazz fans. "They used our shop fronts as lavatories and left the most appalling litter."

The duke—family motto "What will be will be"—took the criticism calmly. "Probably the trouble is that Woburn people have not seen what youngsters are like before," he said. "Most of the villagers are rather old."

As for litter, that came, he said, from stuff the youngsters bought in village shops.

The duke turned Woburn into a showhouse 15 years ago when he succeeded to the title and faced huge estate duties. The 2,000-acre park, one of the most spectacular in England, is open for picnics and family parties.

DRAWING THE CROWDS

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is almost lost in the crush of bodies as he shakes hands with reaching spectators while paying a visit to an area in New York City where a play street is dedicated. He was accompanied by former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, in background. While stumping for votes he is having trouble choosing a running mate.

Ted Kennedy Does Not Want Vice Presidential Nomination

By JAMES RESTON
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts has drafted a plain and unambiguous statement taking himself out of consideration for the 1968 Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Vice President Humphrey, who is so confident of the party's presidential nomination that his aides are already working on his acceptance speech, is now convinced that Kennedy will not be available, and is now said to be considering both Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sargent Shriver, United States ambassador to France and Kennedy's brother-in-law, as his running-mate.

Several intimates of the Kennedy family worked on the draft of the senator's withdrawal statement, and apparently the only remaining decision is when to make it public.

The senator is getting contradictory advice on this point. One argument is that he should withdraw at once, or in any event before the Republican nominating convention, which begins in Miami Beach Aug. 5.

Those who favor this course contend that if he waits until after the G.O.P. convention and Richard M. Nixon is nominated, Kennedy will be under severe pressure to accept the vice presidential nomination in order to keep Nixon from getting to the White House.

This was the argument that John F. Kennedy used successfully in 1960 to get Lyndon B. Johnson on the Democratic ticket, and it was pointed out to Edward Kennedy that Johnson might urge him to do the same unless he withdrew fairly soon.

The argument against issuing the statement now is that silence would keep the Republicans worrying about a Humphrey-Kennedy reconciliation and thus enhance the chances of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the Republican convention. Besides, according to this argument, Kennedy would probably have to issue another statement after the G.O.P. convention regardless of what he says now.

Key Czech Man Loses Post In Pacification Gesture

PRAGUE (AP) — A key figure in Czechoslovakia's liberalization drive lost his post Thursday night in what seemed to be a dramatic gesture by the new Prague leadership to pacify the Soviet Union.

Abolition of Prchlik's State Administration Department of the party Central Committee came three days after the Soviet Defense Ministry paper Red Star assailed him for publicly denouncing the delay in withdrawal of Soviet troops from Czechoslovakia after Warsaw Pact war games in June.

Prchlik, 45, played a major role in toppling old-guard party chairman, Antonin Novotny, last January. He was then given the departmental post.

The reformists hope to oust many old-line Communists from the Central Committee during the congress in September.

In another development Thursday, the Czechoslovak Defense Ministry rejected a London newspaper's claim that it had received information on a Czechoslovak army plan to defend the country against a possible invasion by Soviet troops.

Tractor Trailer, Fire Truck Collide; Titusville Man Dies

Wilson Schlosser, 54, superintendent of the streets department, Titusville, died at 7 p.m. Thursday from injuries received from the collision of a fire truck on which he was riding with a tractor-trailer.

The accident happened at 11:35 a.m. when the rig, owned by Sigel Coal Co. and operated by Marcus Wolbert, 53, of Leeper, going in the opposite direction, swerved across the path of the fire truck on Route 27, one mile east of Titusville.

The fire truck was on its way to a car fire.

Percy Endorses Rockefeller For Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller picked up a name recruit Thursday in Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, in his battle to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from former vice president Richard M. Nixon.

But Percy conceded in his announcement of support for the New York governor that it will take a near-miracle for Rockefeller to surmount delegate lead Nixon has rolled up for the party convention opening Aug. 5 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Percy's action appeared to interest politicians virtually to eliminate the Illinois senator as a potential vice presidential nominee.

There had been wide speculation that if Nixon were nominated he might pick a youthful running-mate of liberal tendencies who was closely associated with big-city problems.

Percy fills that bill. But there is general feeling among politicians that since Rockefeller claims expertise in those particular fields, he might look elsewhere for a second man of more conservative tendencies.

However, in New York, Nixon's press secretary Herbert G. Klein said Percy had endorsed Rockefeller because of "the lure of the vice presidency."

Klein noted that Percy had publicly expressed interest in the vice presidency, and that Nixon had made no commitments.

Rockefeller issued a statement saying he is deeply grateful for Percy's endorsement, adding: "His active support is one more significant sign of the mood and momentum now building up before our convention."

The Illinois senator told a news conference that nobody, including Rockefeller and Nixon, had ever talked to him about the vice presidential nomination.

Mercy Route For Refugees Is Denied

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A federal spokesman called "ridiculous" Thursday a report from Niger that Nigerian and Biafran delegates had agreed on a mercy route across northern Biafra to aid starving civil war refugees.

The reports from Niamey, Niger's capital, said the negotiators had agreed on a 10-mile corridor extending from Enugu, the capital of secessionist Biafra captured by federal troops, 93 miles east to Ogoja.

The spokesman pointed out that Ogoja is practically inaccessible, has long been under federal control, and any food sent there would be farther away from starving Biafrans than at Enugu.

He thought informants in Niamey may have confused Ogoja with Awgu, 33 miles south of Enugu. The federal government has offered to open a mercy corridor from Enugu to Awgu, the point of deepest penetration from the north by federal troops.

Another possibility was that Ogoja might be used as a staging area for relief supplies moving in from Cameroon on the east. An official of the Cameroon embassy said the Red Cross had asked about using the Cameroon town of Mamfe, about 70 miles southeast of Ogoja, as a base for feeding relief supplies into Biafra. He said he did not know if any action had been taken.

Federal officials voiced suspicions of relief attempts to get food to the starving refugees in Biafra, fearing arms may be slipped through their lines.

B52s Attack Enemy Buildup Near Ancient Capital of Hue

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy buildup near the ancient imperial capital of Hue came under attack Friday by U.S. B52s, while U.S. troops sweeping west of the northern city uncovered two enemy arms caches.

In two raids, the eight-engine bombers pounded troop concentrations 28 and 29 miles west of Hue. Other B52s struck at the North Vietnamese near the A Shau valley in the northwestern corner of the country.

The big bombers flew three more raids 69 to 75 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier, striking at enemy troop concentrations, bunkers, base camps and storage areas.

On the ground, elements of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, conducting sweep operations around Hue, seized two large caches of North Vietnamese guns and ammunition. Units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division intercepted 15 Viet Cong soldiers moving in five trucks and rocket-laden sampans 19 miles southwest of Saigon.

The American infantrymen reported killing 10 of the enemy, capturing two more and seizing the sampans loaded with weapons and eight rocket warheads possibly intended for shelling of Saigon.

Over North Vietnam, Air Force tactical fighter-bombers trying to intercept the war supplies before they reach South Vietnam raked a fleet of boats and an open storage area Thursday 23 miles north-northwest of Dong Hoi.

Carrier-based Navy A4 Skyhawks from the Bon Homme Richard attacked trucks in areas ranging from 40 miles south-southeast of Vinh to 25 miles north-northwest of Vinh.

B52s struck six times Wednesday and early Thursday in the area north of Ban Me Thuot, capital of Darlac province in the central highlands. Some U.S. officers think the next enemy blows may come there.

"If there's going to be any action, it looks now like it will be in Darlac Province," a senior U.S. officer said.

"There are good sized concentrations in there," another officer reported. "You might say they have rehabilitated the area."

Ban Me Thuot is about 110 miles south of the area of Kontum, hitherto considered the most likely point for an enemy drive designed to cut South Vietnam in two.

But intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese in the Kontum area near the borders of Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam have been on the move to the south.

Foundation Gives $315,000 To Increase Student Power

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The Ford Foundation gave $315,000 Thursday to the National Student Association to finance the increasing power of college students in educational reform.

The grant will enable the association to gather and publish information on various reform campaigns and hire several staff members to help student leaders press for changes on their own campuses.

Edward A. Schwartz, the association's president who is a graduate of Oberlin College, said that the program would try "to generate quiet revolutions instead of ugly ones."

"Demonstrations just don't help change the way courses are taught or improve the quality of academic departments," Schwartz said.

The association, which represents 368 student governments, also received a grant of $7,500 from the Ford foundation to finance a "Black Commission" of students to study the role of Negroes on college campuses.

The grants indicate that the association is gradually recovering its fiscal health after the disclosure 18 months ago that it had been receiving as much as $400,000 a year from the Central Intelligence Agency.

This year the budget is still more than $10,000 in the red, but Schwartz predicted that the association would be able to break even by next year.

The grants also indicate that the association will no longer be so dependent on money from such government agencies as the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Office of Education, which have provided a large share of the association's funds since it broke with the C.I.A.

State's New Mental Health Legislation Discussed Here

Judges and district attorneys of the counties served by Warren State Hospital met with Superintendent Dr. Robert H. Israel and members of his staff at the hospital this week for discussion of Pennsylvania's new Mental Health Act.

Many matters of mutual concern to the courts and the hospital were reviewed in some detail, particularly the effect of the new Act in the handling of adolescents who are in difficulty, persons with problems of alcoholism, and persons charged with crime who appear to have characteristics of mental disorder.

Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., and Dr. Israel acted as co-chairmen for the discussion. Thomas Donaldson, social service supervisor at the hospital, reviewed those sections of the new Mental Health Act which pertain to commitment to a mental health facility for care. McKean County Judge Glenn Mencer introduced discussion of the problem faced by courts and local communities when a mentally sick person refused to consult a physician or hospital for assistance or for determination of the need for hospitalization. Judge P. Richard Thomas of Crawford County led a discussion of the type of psychiatric consultation which is helpful with disposition of cases in which the safety or welfare of a family and the community is involved.

Another topic concerned situations suddenly arising where immediate care is required. Visiting participants in the conference were Judge Paul Greiner and District Attorney Norbert Powell of Elk County, Judge P. Richard Thomas and District Attorney Paul Shater of Crawford County, Judges Edward Carney and Lindley McClelland and District Attorney William Pfadt of Erie County, Judge Mencer and Attorney Henry Henry Graff of McKean County, Judge Albert Acker and Assistant District Attorney Robert Moore of Mercer County, Judge William Breene and Assistant District Attorney William Thompson of Venango County, and Judge Flick of Warren.

Allegheny Outdoor Club's Canoeing Trip on Sunday

Final plans for the Allegheny Outdoor Club's canoeing trip on Sunday were made Thursday.

At 1 p.m. all canoeists interested in making the trip are asked to meet at the U.S. Forest Service boat launch at the Buckaloons Camp Ground and Picnic Area, at Irvine, Pa.

If the Forest Service boat launch is used to enter the river, a fee of $1.00 must be paid at the entrance to the campground or the Golden Eagle Passport will permit one car to enter the campground and allow the occupants to launch their canoe.

Shortly after 1 p.m. Jan Stanczak, and Jim King from Tidoute, will lead the party on a trip down the Allegheny River to Tidoute.

It is estimated that the canoe trip to Tidoute will take between 4 and 5 hours. Once the group arrives at the Tidoute boat launch, two canoe trailers will be available to haul the canoes back to Buckaloons. The Boy Scouts of America, Complanter Council and the Pioneer Ranch near Tidoute have agreed to loan their canoe trailers to the Outdoor Club for the trip on Sunday. Jud Wilson from Kelleysville has volunteered to haul the canoes on the Pioneer Ranch trailer and arrangements are being made for someone to tow the Boy Scout Trailer.

A check with the Corps of Engineers on Thursday morning has revealed that the Allegheny River is expected to be near a depth of 3.0' on Sunday indicating plenty of water for the canoes.

The next activity scheduled for the Allegheny Outdoor Club is meeting on Monday, July 29, at 7:30 in the Blue Room of the Y.M.C.A. Everyone is welcome at the meeting and future activities for the club will be discussed. On Sunday, August 4, Dr. Ward Sharp will lead an ecology centered nature walk. Details including the place and time of the nature walk will be announced at a later date.

Heart Fund Donations Total $1,480.61

$1,480.61 has been contributed to the Heart Fund in the past year, according to Mrs. James Potter, chairman of the Warren office of the Allegheny Mt. Heart Association.

The money came in the form of memorial gifts. When a memorial gift is received, the Heart Association immediately sends an appropriate acknowledgement card to the bereaved family, indicating the names of the individual being honored and the donor(s).

The memorial tributes are used to support research and aimed at reducing the toll of cardiovascular diseases — the greatest cause of mortality and disability in the community and the nation.

Memorial gifts to the Heart Association are tax deductible, may be made by mail (P.O. Box 945), at 404 Market st., Warren, or by calling 723-4860.

The Violent Dissenters

People seem to be running amuck these days. Well, some people do. And they don't mind trampling over other people's rights in the name of "dissent." You might call them the "violent dissenters."

You know the kind: The students who invade the administration offices at Columbia University -- an elite "Ivy League" University -- read the president's mail, close the place down, and completely disregard the rights of other students who want to get an education.

Some farm areas have seen it too -- in barn burnings, hog houses blown up, milk trucks punctured by bullets, tires slashed and the like. And then there are the most violent of all -- those who are running the street riots in our cities, wantonly burning and destroying other people's property, sneaking pot-shots at police, and looting and stealing wholesale.

These are all people who know better. But, knowing better, they still ride roughshod over other people's rights. Their activities are a real threat to society and to the life that you and other law-abiding citizens know.

We're not talking about the long-haired boys and short-skirted girls who are on a peaceful rock-and-roll rebellion binge. That will all pass in good time, as did the flapper, the goldfish gulpers and the twist.

And we're not talking about individual acts of crime. We've always had our share of the deranged mentality that can level a gun and pull the trigger on the Kennedy brothers and Martin Luther King.

What we're really talking about is the planned, organized, disrupting, unprincipled, violent kind of minority dissent. You can spot their methods a mile away: create dissent; harass; disrupt; make demands; call a showdown; destroy; riot; and blame the other fellow or society.

A typical ultimatum: "If you don't do so and so, we can't be responsible for what we do." A frequent charge: "All society is rotten. We've got to start over." A favorite excuse: "After all, this nation was founded by revolution and violence."

What they forgot is that the colonial revolutionary ruckus was over "taxation without representation." The colonists didn't have a voice; they didn't have adequate ways of making change. Citizens had fled here to avoid Old-World force and denial of individual rights. They fought the Revolution to establish a Republic of law and order where minority rights were respected, freedoms were granted, and where people could make changes peacefully. We've had nearly 200 years of rich experience and brilliant action to create orderly methods for people and society to make progressive changes.

The violent dissenters are making a mockery of that history. They are restoring to destructive force, even hate, and are attempting to create chaos -- the very antithesis of orderly change. There is no healing power for the ills of society in their methods.

Pressures of the Campaign

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The pressures of the election campaign are mounting up, and maybe it should be noted, even at this early date, that the American presidential electoral system demands more energy, patience, and wisdom than more ordinary mortals possess.

Even before the conventions, the major candidates, all of them in their fifties or early sixties, have been on an exhausting schedule for weeks, some of them for months.

Gene McCarthy rented Walter Lippmann's house here on Woodley rd. late last year, and has scarcely seen it since.

Dick Nixon, who went through all this before in 1960, blames his mistakes in that campaign on the blunders of weariness, and has been running away to Florida every weekend or so to conserve his sanity.

Hubert Humphrey took almost two weeks to throw off the flu recently after the first few tire-some rushes out into the country, and Nelson Rockefeller, though he started late, comes back from every trip these days croaking like Jimmy Durante.

The tension does not often show on the surface. They have all learned to smile for the photographers, but in private things are different. Humphrey asked an old friend to help him with a speech the other day, and when the friend refused, the vice president fired off a letter that affronted not only the receiver but his own staff.

When Sen. Charles Percy called

Richard Nixon on the telephone to say that he had decided to come out publicly for Gov. Rockefeller, Nixon let it be known that he was not amused. Even Gene McCarthy's sense of humor and natural courtesy are often overcome by the endless pressures of flying, eating bad meals, and pretending to be eager when he is really exhausted and bored.

A private meeting here this week between Humphrey and his foreign affairs task force illustrates the pressures that go on behind the scenes. Unlike the other candidates, Humphrey has had to face the problem of trying to be loyal to the president while seeming to be independent and faithful to his own views. The purpose of the meeting was to devise a public statement on Vietnam which would reconcile these irreconcilable propositions.

Some of the Kennedy people had called on Humphrey before the meeting to indicate that if he came out for ending the bombing in all of Vietnam, maybe they would eventually support him. Most of his political advisers had said reconciliation with the Kennedy people and the McCarthy people was probably essential to victory in November. But even the Humphrey task force was divided on what the Humphrey statement, already promised publicly, should say.

One view presented to the vice president was that the North Vietnamese were indicating on the battlefield, if not in the Paris negotiations, that they were ready for a compromise. The enemy had stopped rocketing Saigon and the other Vietnamese cities. The casualty rate was visibly down during the last few weeks. These were signals, according to this view, and maybe the vice president should assume they were significant and think about calling for an end of the bombing.

But wait, said other advisers: there was clear evidence that the enemy was not only sending more and more men from the North into South Vietnam, but preparing for a major offensive against the Americans and South Vietnamese in the cities. How would the vice president explain calling for an end to the bombing if the enemy offensive started? How could he justify such a position in a campaign even if the bombing didn't affect the enemy infiltration? And what would Lyndon Johnson say and do?

Humphrey and his aides met for over two hours in his office on Capitol Hill, and how he resolved the dilemma, if at all, will not be known until the statement he probably wishes he had never promised comes out.

JIM BISHOP

Two-Time Loser

If I had influence with the young men of our country, I would urge them to run for public office. Politics, an artful science, is best studied from the inside. Our young men should draw up voter petitions and file for offices within reach: town council; school board; county offices; assemblymen and state senators.

We need the talent. It doesn't matter which party you join, or even if you run as an independent. Running for office will give a man a working knowledge of how government operates, which man is the real power in the area, and how to smile after being double-crossed.

It teaches many things -- all of them useful in other fields. For example, party conferences teach a candidate how to refine a crude idea into a polished gem, how to debate the points of a platform, how to get out in an unfriendly neighborhood and speak without being killed.

If a citizen does it but once, he will never forget the lessons he has absorbed. One can learn as much in defeat as in victory. In school, most of us give lip service to the subject of civics, and promptly forget it. In adulthood, politics becomes a fascinating game. If you're with the majority group, you learn less because they can win without you and you're a novice. If you're with the "out" segment, they will listen to your ideas because they've had sad results with theirs.

Someone from Red Bank, N.J., sent a newspaper clipping from the Red Bank Register and I found that my son-in-law Charles Frechette had tried it. He has seven little ones and drives 104 miles to and from work at an Owens-Illinois Plant.

He joined the Democrats in a Republican town and was elected, 872 votes to 827. He isn't going to feed all the mouths with anything given by the Township Committee, not to mention the 120-pound dog, the baby rabbits, the rheumatic blacksnake, an iguana and some pet kangaroo rats. I live too far away to sit in the town hall the night the fight begins over whether the municipality can afford a new siren for the police car, or whether it would be better to break the chief's tooth and let him whistle.

Some time back, I ran for office twice. My reasons was, too often, writers are in the position of writing stories about which they know little. First I ran for Freeholder on the Democratic ticket in a Republican County. Seven Freeholders ran the county; if I won -- a ridiculous assumption -- I couldn't cough without being voted down six to one.

Still, I did it. Unfortunately, I had some friends among the Republicans. There was one office on the ballot to which neither money nor power was attached: coroner. My GOP friends passed the word secretly: "Let's write in good old Jim for that one." I was beaten for Freeholder, 122,000 votes to 66,000, but received a certificate from the Secretary of State certifying me as a County coroner.

So please do not say that I was never elected. A little later, I teamed up with some buddies and ran for township council. There were no street corner speeches. Citizens invited the neighborhood to their cellar game rooms and we were invited to stand up and state our case, in 10 minutes.

We campaigned for reform, repeal and revolt without ever looking the words up in a dictionary. The mayor honored me by issuing a statement denouncing everything I said as the product of a demented mind. It was the biggest notice I got.

I was shellacked by something like 5,000 votes to 2,200. I was surprised to notice that two members of my team of buddies got 3,000 votes. This meant that they had asked friends to "bullet vote" them and ignore me. I was learning, just a little at a time.

A man must be young and be able to get off the nightly garbage detail to run for office. But, looking up from the bottom as a township candidate, you will be surprised at how much you will see that you never noticed before about government. It will make an alert civic-minded citizen of you in a short time.

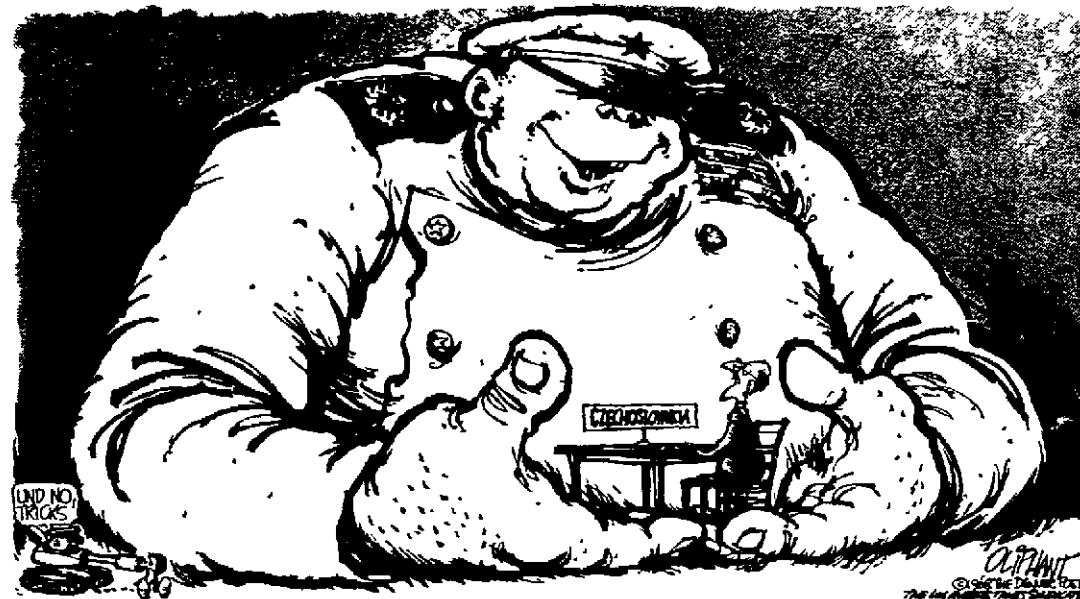

Later, I went back to writing books and became lucky with one called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." The Newark Star-Ledger had someone on the copy desk with a long memory. Here's the head he wrote for the story:

JIM BISHOP (D), TWO-TIME LOSER, FINDS WINNER IN A. LINCOLN (R).

VERY WELL, WE DO IT YOUR WAY--WE TALK!

PEARSON & ANDERSON

Code of Ethics a Joke

WASHINGTON -- The phoniest move by Congress this year was to pass an alleged code of ethics. The code didn't even begin to deal with the flinching and backstairs lobbying that takes place on Capitol Hill.

One illustration of its failure is what is happening with television, where crime and violence programming is influencing the crime rate in this country. In England and France, where the crime rate is almost zero compared with the United States, television is strictly regulated. In the United States it is supposed to be regulated by the Federal Communications Commission. But in real fact it is not.

Basic reason: the influence of Congressmen who own TV stations or have law firms which represent TV clients or who want favors from the networks. In addition, the President's family, for the first time in history, is a TV owner. Congressmen with pocketbook interests have cracked down on the Federal Communications Commission brazenly.

When the FCC tried to limit the number of commercials on TV, for example, the House wrathfully voted 317 to 43 to strip the agency of this power. Few other issues have received such overwhelming House support.

The secret of the television industry's hold over Congress is threefold: SECRET NO. 1--Congressmen like to see themselves on TV, and TV stations offer a lot of free time. A broadcasting magazine survey indicated that 70 per cent of the Senators and 60 per cent of the Representatives film TV reports to constituents which are shown "as a public service" by local stations.

The taxpayers, incidentally, provide both the Senate and House with free radio and television studios. The members pay for little more than the cost of the film, scarcely a fraction of what commercial studios would charge. Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., for example, gained an advantage over other recording stars by cutting his profitable, patriotic recording of "Gallant Men" in the tax-subsidized Senate studio.

SECRET NO. 2--The radio-TV industry has more influence on Capitol Hill than any other lobby, except possibly the highway lobby. The National Association of Broadcasters has lined up station owners in every state who can be called upon to apply pressure upon their Congressmen. When the occasion demands, the NAB can back this up with letters from its 3,600 member stations. Each network also keeps a vice president in Washington, whose main function is to keep Congressmen happy.

SECRET NO. 3--Many Congressmen have a pocketbook interest in broadcasting through personal or family holdings in radio-TV stations. Equally significant, Congressmen's law firms have radio-TV clients.

To illustrate, Rep. Clarence Brown Jr., R-Ohio, isn't the least abashed about feathering his nest via WCOM in Urbana, Ohio. As executor of his father's estate, he holds 75 per cent of the station's voting stock. Yet has become the champion of radio-television interests inside the House Communications Subcommittee, which processes all broadcasting legislation.

Brazenly, he led the fight against forming a Public Broadcasting Corporation. Equally brazen, he sought to restrict educational radio and television. He was willing to permit the teaching of academic courses on educational stations, but he introduced legislation to prevent these stations from broadcasting dramatizations, classical music or cultural activities which might attract viewers away from the commercial channels.

Another brazen pocketbook Congressman is Paul Jones, D-Mo. When the FCC tried to regulate TV commercials, the loudest howl came from him. He did not reveal that his family then owned a substantial share in KBQA of Kennett, Mo.

"I have had a recent experience with the Federal Communications Commission," he yelled on the House floor, "and have been the victim of rulings made by incompetent employees who have been given too much authority with no supervision and no responsibility. When you try to talk to some of the commissioners, you are usually referred to some subordinate. . . . I want to predict that unless we do pass the legislation (to prevent the FCC from limiting commercials) we are going to find the Federal Communications Commission, and particularly the employees of that commission, taking unto themselves authority which no one feels they should have."

Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., who owns a large block of stock in KMED-TV of Medford, Ore., called for a statute late April that would require the community-antenna TV companies to pay copyright fees for the programs they pick up from the networks.

Equally brazen, this legislation is being handled in the Senate by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., who owns an interest in Midwest Video, a CATV complex. His son and son-in-law are also stockholders. He doesn't worry about this obvious conflict of interest.

In an interview with Television magazine, McClellan described the CATV business as "vital."

"I will oppose anything I think will destroy it," he snorted.

This is part of the case against Congress. The public has been fooled by the adoption of a code of ethics, but that code merely brushes a lot of unethical conduct under the rug. Indirectly, this is one reason there is so much crime and violence on television.

SYLVIA PORTER

Is Bankruptcy Necessary?

In South Bend, Ind., a young couple with three children accumulated debts of $4,200. This fiscal year, it's estimated, some 185,000 personal bankruptcy petitions will be filed in the U.S., compared with only 80,000 in 1958. The cost to the U.S. economy of personal bankruptcy has now soared to $500 million a year. And this, mind you, at a time of unprecedented economic affluence.

What leads so many Americans into bankruptcy? What can be done to reduce our bankruptcy rates?

Surprisingly, such obvious forces as divorce, poverty and health crises are NOT the key reasons for bankruptcy. Instead, reports the Family Service Association of America, headquartered in New York, the typical near-bankrupt family is young and has an income of about $500 a month.

The family probably has been hit by a relatively minor unplanned financial emergency, or it has consistently been living beyond its means and frequently loading up on installment debt.

This case history is just one illustration of a new nationwide drive to save hundreds of thousands of families from personal bankruptcy. This fiscal year, it's estimated, some 185,000 personal bankruptcy petitions will be filed in the U.S., compared with only 80,000 in 1958. The cost to the U.S. economy of personal bankruptcy has now soared to $500 million a year. And this, mind you, at a time of unprecedented economic affluence.

What leads so many Americans into bankruptcy? What can be done to reduce our bankruptcy rates?

Surprisingly, such obvious forces as divorce, poverty and health crises are NOT the key reasons for bankruptcy. Instead, reports the Family Service Association of America, headquartered in New York, the typical near-bankrupt family is young and has an income of about $500 a month.

The family probably has been hit by a relatively minor unplanned financial emergency, or it has consistently been living beyond its means and frequently loading up on installment debt. In a group of near-bankrupt families studied by the FSAA, only 13 per cent used a written budget, although these were the families most in need of such a budget. The average debt of families seeking guidance was in the $3,000 to $4,000 range.

To combat the bankruptcy problem, the non-profit National Foundation for Consumer Credit, backed by banks, credit bureaus, retailers and manufacturers, has set up 73 consumer credit counseling services from coast to coast.

In the past two years, 120,000 families have been counseled, the majority of them saved from bankruptcy. Only about one in six families, says the Foundation, cannot be helped, because their problems are psychological or legal or because they are "credit drunks" who simply are not willing to try to solve their problems. Without counseling services, today's bankruptcies might be 50 per cent higher than they are.

The fact is, says S. C. Patterson, president of the NFCC: "people do want help -- desperately -- but they don't know where to go, and until recently there hasn't been anywhere to go."

We are also finally beginning to attack the bankruptcy problem through long-needed changes in laws covering wage garnishment. Potentially one of the most significant provisions of the new Truth-in-Lending law bans garnishment of a worker's wages up to $48 a week. This is only a start -- meager indeed -- but at least it's a start. As one indication of the direct link between bankruptcy rates and harsh wage garnishment laws, six states accounted for more than half of all personal bankruptcies last year, those with the harshest state garnishment laws. In contrast, Texas, which prohibits garnishment, has one of the lowest bankruptcy rates in the nation.

The Roaring Silence

HARRISBURG — Columnist's Notebook:

THE ROARING SILENCE — In this the first week of the Legislature's extended recess until September, much of the Main Capitol Building (which in recent years has been taken over more and more by the legislative branch as executive branch offices departed to other buildings) assumed the somberness of an ancient Egyptian tomb. Missing, however, were the conventional mummies (associated with the Egyptian tombs, that is).

Empty and silent were the ornate chambers of the Senate and House of Representatives -- to say nothing of the less elaborate offices of members of the Legislature. A few stragglers were still on hand however -- running errands for constituents back home, attending pre-scheduled legislative committee meetings and whatnot.

On the whole though Capitol Hill was peaceful -- as it usually is when the legislative branch isn't in session to tangle the hair of executive branch bureaucrats.

Even His Excellency was away from the tree-studded mound (although in recent months his presence has become more of an innovation than his absence).

CONVENTION DELEGATE TIPS — Republican State Chairman John C. Jordan (thoughtfully) has drafted a memo of sorts to delegates planning to attend the Republican Nominating Convention in Miami next month, a few points of which are perhaps worth noting.

On the subject of "clothing", for example, Mr. Jordan has this to say:

"Similar to clothing required in Pennsylvania during the hot summer months, Bathing suits, etc."

On this note we'll look for Pennsylvania's delegation to appear on the convention floor in proper knobby knee and midriff-exposure attire -- which should be a racy scene on the boob tube, or was he referring to beach parties only?

And for delegates who need it, under the category of "other" services is the catchy one of: "Babysitting services available." (Mother Jordan has not indicated whether diaper service will also be on tap -- assumedly it will, of course.)

EXPOSE STORY OF THE WEEK — POCOON RECORD (Stroudsburg) reporter Pete Grady, on assignment for a "peek" at a nudist's camp at nearby Palmerton, apparently managed to lose neither his shirt nor his sense of perspective. He reports retiring from the arena "fully attired," noting in his reportorial gem:

"After an extremely frank, open and revealing interview with Zelda Supply, the camp's co-owner, who still bills herself as 'Queen of the Nudists', her parting remarks were, 'Hope to see more of you!'"

Headline on Reporter Grady's "Dr. Livingstone, I Presume" essay: "Nudists give 'bare' facts of attending Palmerton camp".

HEADLINE OF THE WEEK — The POTTSTOWN MERCURY, as the mercury shot up, (no pun intended) headlined a story this way:

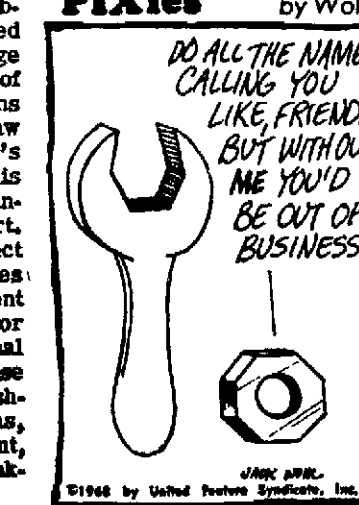

"It's Hotter Than Hell in Pottstown"

For panic-stricken readers the MERCURY explained it all in the story, the lead paragraph saying:

"It was hotter than Hell in Pottstown Thursday. The town of Hell, Michigan, managed to muster only a measly 89 degrees while a high of 93 blisters residents of Pottstown."

COULD BE A SCRATCHY AFFAIR — Among notable events listed by the State Department of Commerce in its "Calendar of Events" for this week is this one scheduled for tomorrow (Saturday): "Flea Market -- Intercourse" . . . If you're itching to attend the affair, Intercourse is in Lancaster County, about five miles from Bird in Hand, about the same distance from Paradise, or, about eight miles east of Lancaster.

Allies Ban Latvian Youth Conference

BERLIN (AP) — The United States, Britain and France banned Thursday an anti-Communist exile Latvian youth congress scheduled to open in West Berlin on Friday.

The allied ban is aimed to avert friction with the Soviet Union, the fourth power responsible for Berlin, at a time of great tension in Europe over Czechoslovakia.

"Having considered all the circumstances, including the quadripartite relationships in Berlin, the allies have concluded that the congress should not take place at the present time and have so ordered," said a statement by the allied commandatura.

Allied sources said no protests had been received from the Russians about the congress, which included a program of speeches critical of Soviet rule in Latvia, an independent country taken over in World War II. But blasts against the planned July 26-31 meeting by Communist East Germany pointed to trouble if the congress were held, perhaps in the form of new harassment against West Berlin.

A West German government spokesman in Bonn said the decision was made by the allies and added: "No objection has been raised to the decision by the German side."

Dairy Farmer Spokesman Asks Price Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — A spokesman for 25,000 dairy farmers in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New England testified Thursday that an increase in the minimum price that dealers must pay for fluid milk is "imperative for price alignment and orderly marketing."

Dr. Stewart Johnson, an agriculture economist at the University of Connecticut, presented his statement at a hearing in the offices of the New York-New Jersey Milk Market Administration.

Johnson testified in behalf of 18 dairy cooperatives that are members of the New York-New Jersey Dairy Cooperative Coordinating Committee.

The hearing was called at the request of the committee, which is seeking an increase of 26 cents a hundredweight—slightly more than 1/2 cent a quart—in the price of Class I (fluid) milk.

The minimum farm milk price is set by the government under federal marketing orders.

The increase sought by the committee would apply to six milk-marketing regions: New York-New Jersey, Massachusetts-Rhode Island-New Hampshire, Washington, D.C., the Delaware Valley, Connecticut, and the upper Chesapeake Bay.

Persons of Latvian origin, including 130 from the United States, had planned to attend the congress.

Young Latvian exiles gathered in West Berlin were stunned by the news.

"We have no comment except that we are shocked," said Miss Rasma Side, spokesman for the organizers, the European Federation of Latvian Youth. "We had wanted nothing except to ask for civil rights and self-determination for Latvia."

Since World War II Latvia has been under Soviet rule.

More than 100 European and North American delegates debated whether to leave Berlin quietly or to carry on with a limited nonpolitical program.

All-Star Game Tied; Teams Meet Again Today

By DAN PRATZ
A hard drive in the last two innings put the Long Island All-Stars back in the running last night against the Hot Stove All-Stars in the game at 3-all forcing the contest into extra innings. The game was called on account of darkness.

The contest, played on War Memorial Field, went into one extra inning without a run scored.

It was the first of a two game series being played by the Hempstead, N.Y. team and tonight's contest will be a real show-down after last night's grueling tilt. The game is scheduled to get underway at 8:30 on the Carbon Park field following a preliminary contest featuring two Mid-Jersey teams. There will be no fear of tonight's contest being called because of darkness for the lights will be turned on and the game will continue until a winner is decided.

The public is urged to attend this worthwhile project to back both the local boys and the out-of-towners. There will be no admission charge.

The Warren All-Stars came on strong in the tilt as Dan Briggs opened the action in the second inning by clubbing a double. Mike Menard backed up Briggs with a powerful single sending Briggs to third. Briggs then put the first score on the board as Rick Tomassoni blasted a single into left field powering the run in to put Warren on top 1-0.

The third inning was also a top one for the Hot Stove boys as Briggs walked to first and then stole second. Menard once more singled sending Briggs to third. An error on the short-stop sent Briggs into home giving Warren a 2-0 lead.

Things looked rather dismal for the Long Island squad for the first five innings as the book simple read, "three-up—three down". However, the sixth inning saw the boys come alive as Mike O'Neill walked to first.

O'Neill then stole second and advanced to third on a single.

A catcher's error finally put the Long Island men on the scoreboard as O'Neill pounded out their first run.

The top of the seventh inning found both squads pretty edgy as the end neared. Gary Sodek started the inning off right by smashing a triple. Sodek then gave Warren one more hope as he stole home on a wild pitch.

Taylor Signs Steeler Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mike Taylor, the No. 1 draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers, signed his contract Thursday.

A Steeler spokesman said Taylor underwent a knee operation eight weeks ago without letting the Steelers or College All-Stars officials know.

pitch moving the Hot Stove All-Stars into front 3-1.

Long Island, however, came through when the pressure was on as third baseman Bob Morgan clubbed a single. First baseman Greg Knight was hit by a wild pitch sending Morgan to second as John Goodwyn stepped in to run for the injured batter.

John Dunn then stepped to the plate and blasted a double sending Morgan into home and Goodwyn to third. Dom Tassone then received a walk off Warren pitcher, Gary Sodek, loading the bases. Pitcher Steve Cameron bunted and made it to first sending Goodwyn into home to tie the game up at 3-all. The next two outs came at home as the New York men attempted to score.

The eighth inning found both teams experiencing bad luck as it went three up-three down. Tonight's contest will be the deciding factor as the two squads meet once more to test their talents.

Stewart Has No-Hitter; Mets and Beverage Win

By J. D. PIRILLO
After a week of layoff due to postponements and inclement weather conditions, Dean Stewart brought the City League back into focus again by twirling a no-hitter at the Sons of Italy as the Mineral Well Mets raked in the benefits of a 4-1 outcome.

The first game of the evening saw the Warren Beverage rally from under a 3-0 deficit in the fifth inning to put down the Betts Machine Black Knights, 4-3 in eight frames behind the

REC LEAGUE

There were three games and one forfeit in Rec League play Thursday.

Surt Club forfeited its game to Local 469 when it failed to field enough players for a game.

City Ice won from DeVore Keystone, 12-6. Charlie Pettit and Roger Stewart formed the winning battery. Dave Holmberg and Jim Stanton were the Keystone battery. Ed Cummings and Frank Suppa homered for City Ice, while Kerry Hughes tripled. B. Dietsch tripled for DeVore's.

Towne and Country won from Norris's, 18-14. Doug Baldenberger won the game and Ingalls took the loss. Although had two homers and Johnson tripled for T&C.

Sheffield Tavern Took Rex Chain Belt, 16-9. Goldthwaite was the winner and Ralph Lee the loser. The tavern boys had nine doubles.

five hit pitching of their ace hurler John Berdine.

Stewart came off the injured list that he was subjected to for over a week and proved he was ready by striking out seven men and not allowing an earned run to cross the plate.

In speaking of that unearned run the Sons came up with, Joe Tassone made it possible when his ground ball was muffed three times while he scooted around the base paths. The Mets didn't mind it so much after they went out and got a run in almost the same way.

Tom Kibbey and Stewart Battled each other from atop the hill until the fifth when Kibbey was tabbed for three free passes and a couple of hits which gave the Mineral Well three runs and a death grip on a 4-1 ball game. Kibbey also turned in a fine game in allowing just three hits, while striking out eight.

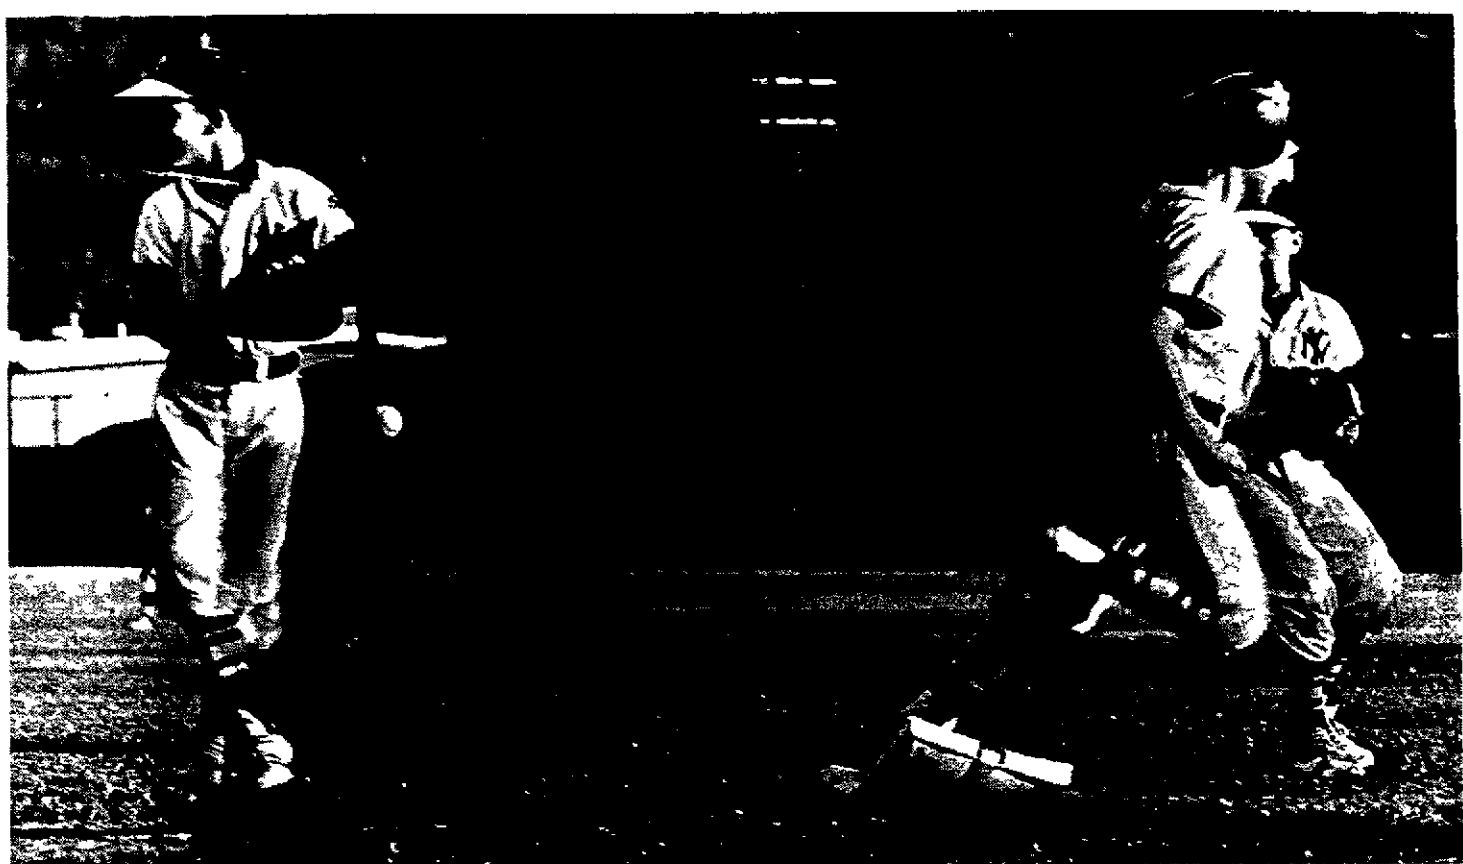

The Black Knights are out to erase their image as the league pushovers and they aren't doing a bad job of it. By scoring three runs in the third frame and holding the Beverage to zeroes for four frames, they may have made a few believers.

The Beverage scraped and fought until they got something started in their fifth. It proved to be more than just a little something when Larry Campbell's single was followed by Bud Berdine base knock and a couple of infield errors to knot the game up at 3-3.

Although Berdine didn't allow a man to reach base in the sixth and seventh, but the strain on the Mets nerves became apparent in the eighth. Sam Koebly waited out a base on balls from Albaugh and moved into scoring position on another error. He then found himself standing on first after Bill Massa lifted a fly ball.

Judy Lobdell's deep drive to centerfield was good enough to sacrifice the winning run in. There will be a meeting of all league managers and anybody else interested on Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. in the Sons of Italy hall to decide a schedule on the League's seven make-up games.

Mineral Well will again meet the Sons of Italy this Monday evening in the only regularly scheduled contest.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE

Legion Take C&A

Youngsville American Legion took a close game from Courter and Abplanalp, 3-2. Randy Simonson bested R. Grove for mound honors. Zack Williams had the only extra-base hit, a triple for the Legion.

Speedway Wins, 25-0

Stateline Speedway crushed the Russell Samaritans, 25-0. Mark Thompson was the winning pitcher and bombed three home runs. Craig Briggs smashed a double and a triple, Ken Detrich cracked a three-bagger, and Brian Brennan and Jay Curtis rapped doubles. Mark Spicer took the loss.

Bankers Win

Warren National Bank of Sheffield and Meadowbrook Dairy finished the season tied with 10-2 records after the Bankers defeated the Dairymen 7-2. Dave Steffan hurled for the win, receiving hitting support from Bill Irvin, who ripped two doubles. Ricky Larson took the loss and clobbered a triple. Dan Johnson and Mark Slater belted doubles for the losers.

Carol Mann Leads Open

TORONTO (AP) — Towering Carol Mann, winner of six tournaments this year, shot a four-under-par 69 Thursday and took a two-stroke lead in the first round of play in the $20,000 Canadian Women's Open Golf Championship.

Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and U.S. pros Sandra Spuzich and Pam Barnett, shared the No. 2 spot with 71s after their first trip around the 4,448-yard Bayview Golf and Country Club layout.

Following at 72 were veteran Patty Berg and Clifford Anne Creed, while seven others were at 73.

Buffalo Expresses Interest In Major League Baseball

MONTREAL (AP) — Buffalo was reported ready Thursday to step in and take over Montreal's newly-acquired National League baseball franchise in case the Canadian city can't make it, but backers here said it won't be necessary.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, also said in New York that he wasn't worried that Montreal wouldn't be able to meet its commitment.

Although Buffalo was the only city to express its interest Thursday in the franchise if the Montreal venture should fail, Milwaukee and Dallas Fort Worth also are known to be watching the developments in the Canadian city.

Doubt that Montreal would be able to answer the bell for the expanded league in 1969 was raised when a second member of the original syndicate withdrew his investment.

He is J. Louis Levesque, a Montreal financier who was one of the board of seven backers. Another, Marc Bourgie, a wealthy funeral director, pulled out Tuesday.

The two of them represented an investment of $2,500,000 of an estimated $10 million original franchise fee expected to increase to $14 million.

Charles Bronfman, vice chairman of the syndicate said he and the four remaining directors—John Newman, Sidney Maitlin and Lorne Webster of Montreal and Robert Isray of Chicago—were not disheartened by the pullouts.

Bronfman said he and Montreal's Mayor Jean Drapeau were working to replace the pair. One of the names frequently mentioned is that of Lou Perini, a Boston construction magnate who was former owner of the Boston and Milwaukee Braves and currently is a director of the Atlanta team. Perini has not acknowledged interest in the venture.

"We anticipated these withdrawals," said National League president Giles. "We had 10 backers of the franchise originally. For every one that drops out, another member seems ready to take up the slack."

Buffalo, one of the unsuccessful bidders for the franchise when Montreal and San Diego were added to the expanded 12-team league last May 27, put in a new bid in case of a Montreal default.

Bob Swados, an attorney for Major League for Buffalo, Inc. advised the National League: "Buffalo can come forward immediately with all the funds, all the facilities and the organization required."

Major League Games

Braves Top Mets

On Torre's Homer
ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre's three-run homer, following an error, climaxed a four-run sixth inning that carried the Atlanta Braves to a 4-2 victory over the New York Mets Thursday night.

Loser Dick Selma, 8-6, was breezing along with a one-hitter and got the first two Braves' hitters in the sixth before Felipe Alou tripled. Third baseman Ed Charles then booted Felix Millan's grounder. Hank Aaron beat out a hit and Torre unloaded.

The Mets came back in the seventh against Phil Niekro when Charles doubled, Ed Kranepool singled and Art Shamsky slammed a two-run double.

But Niekro stopped the rally and finished with a six-hitter for his 10th victory in 17 decisions.

Northrup Hits Two, Tigers Snap Slump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Northrup blasted two home runs as the Detroit Tigers snapped their slump with a 4-1 victory over Washington Thursday night behind Joe Sparr's rain-shortened one-hitter.

The triumph was only the Tigers' second in their last six games, but boosted their lead over idle Baltimore back to 5½ games heading into a weekend series with the Orioles.

Sparr, 8-9, walked six men but allowed only a line single by Paul Casanova before rain washed out the game at the end of 6½ innings after a one-hour wait.

Northrup smashed a towering two-run drive into the upper deck in right field after Dick McAuliffe's single in the first inning then rifled a 400-foot shot over the center field fence leading off the third for his 14th and 15th homers.

The Senators scored in the first on shortstop Tom Matchick's two-out, two-base throwing error on Ken McMullen's grounder after Del Unser had walked and stolen second.

Willie Horton batted in the other Detroit run with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Reds Shutout Bucs, For 6th Straight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Run-scoring hits by Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas in the fourth inning and clutch pitching by George Culver and Clay Carroll boosted Cincinnati past Pittsburgh 2-0 Thursday night for its sixth straight victory.

Johnny Bench started the fourth against loser Bob Veale,

8-10, with a two-out bloop single and scored on consecutive singles by Tommy Helms and Pavletich. Cardenas followed with a double that brought Helms home.

Culver, 8-9, halted the Pirates for six innings, scattering eight hits and stranding eight runners. Carroll took over in the seventh and allowed five more hits, leaving five more runners on base, to complete an 11-hit shutout.

Fichtner Joins New Orleans

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Veteran safety Ross Fichtner, 29, dropped by the Cleveland Browns after a bit of racial strife, signed Thursday with the New Orleans Saints.

Fichtner, an eight-year veteran, was the Browns' starting safety.

The Browns had placed Fichtner, who is white, and guard John Wooten, a Negro, on waivers due to the quarrel.

Gibson Wins 11th In a Row, 5 to 0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson posted his 11th consecutive victory with a five-hitter and the St. Louis Cardinals swept their four-game series against Philadelphia with a 5-0 triumph Thursday night.

Gibson, 14-5, who has allowed only two runs in his last 92 innings, notched his eighth shut-out of the season and 12th straight complete game as he struck out six, walked one and allowed only one runner as far as second base.

The Cardinals' right-hander, has not lost since May 28. Johnny Edwards broke a scoreless tie in the fourth inning against loser Chris Short, 9-10, with a two-run single that started the Phillies to their seventh straight loss.

Orlando Cepeda doubled in a run in the fifth and scored on Mike Shannon's single, and Gibson doubled in the final run in the eighth.

JOSEPH DURSO

MAN WITH HEADACHES

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK, July 25—The New York Mets last year went through 27 pitchers, 27 other players, three coaches, a manager and a president. The only one who left voluntarily was the president, Bing Devine.

He went back home to St. Louis to run the Cardinals. As a result he now has a beautiful view from the top of the National League while three teams in the American League are clawing one another for the right to meet his club in the World Series.

The clawing will get serious tomorrow night in two cities. In Baltimore, the Orioles open a series against the Detroit Tigers. In Cleveland, the Indians open one against our old friends, the New York Yankees. In both cases the plot will be thickening for the Tigers.

Once they held a lead as luxurians as Devine's Cardinals still hold in the National League. But in Detroit last weekend the Orioles—under their new manager, Earl Weaver—won three of four games from them. And now both Baltimore and Cleveland suddenly are stalking the Tigers.

Watching from a safe distance will be Bing Devine, and the action will provide welcome relief from the headaches of running the Cardinals. Headaches like answering the early World Series ticket requests from fans—politely. Or like protecting his eyes from the rays of Stan Musial's new green suit. Or like finding a back-up centerfielder for Curt Flood, the best in the business.

"I'm not a betting man," Devine said the other day, "and I don't have many worldly goods to bet. But if anybody had bet me on the first day of last December that I'd be back in St. Louis this season, I'd have reached back and made a large bet that it could never happen."

"I guess the biggest day-to-day difference in my life," he added, in one of the great understatements of the century, "is that with luck in traffic, you can drive home in St. Louis in the afternoon in 30 or 40 minutes."

The Cardinals at the time were busy scoring 10 runs in three innings against Philadelphia. But he diplomatically refrained from mentioning that as a major day-to-day difference from the Met days. He granted, though, that one such difference was finding a centerfielder.

The Mets last season had nobody considered a professional centerfielder. Devine tried to make several trades, including one for Ron Davis of the Houston Astros. On June 15, the last day for trading, "The decision was in our laps." But the Mets shied from the deal, finished in last place, then got Tommie Agee from the Chicago White Sox.

Devine later switched from the Mets to St. Louis, where he found Flood in centerfield with Lou Brock and Roger Maris on the flanks.

They already had obtained Dick Schofield to back up the infield, Johnny Edwards to back up the catcher and Dick Simpson to back up the outfield. Then they traded Simpson to Houston and in exchange got a solid man to back up Flood—namely, Ron Davis. That is, the Mets have first-string headaches and the Cardinals have second-string headaches.

"Still," Devine said tactfully, "it's pretty much the same. You're up, you're down. Baseball fortune is like a baseball game. Last month the Cardinals played a double header against Cincinnati. In the first game, we were behind 8-0, then scored 10 runs in one inning and won, 10-8. In the second game, we were ahead, 6-1, and yet somehow lost, 8-6."

As for the weekend struggles in the American League, the Ex-Met is taking an even strain. He can't believe that Detroit will "get too panicky." Yet, he knows the new Baltimore manager, Earl Weaver, as a one-time St. Louis boy, "A fighter, a little rooster, like Leo Durocher and Eddie Stanky."

He sympathizes with everybody concerned, especially since it's been a fateful season for big league managers. Gene Mauch, Hank Bauer and Stanky already have departed. Mayo Smith of Detroit, who lost the pennant on the last day last year, figures to be starting an urgent weekend tomorrow night. Weaver is trying to do something no other manager has done—take over a club in midseason and win a championship.

Anyway, nobody will be watching the weekend's rivalries more closely than the man who went from last place to first place in one stunning day last December. For the moment, at least, his own "headaches" are under control. Unless, of course, the traffic gets a lot worse on those parkways in St. Louis these warm summer afternoons.

Trevino Doesn't Need the Money

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Lee Trevino may have disappointed his loyal troupe of "Lee's Fieas" in Thursday's first round of the Minnesota Golf Classic, but he didn't disappoint himself with his three-over-par 74.

"I had a heck of a good time," the ever-smiling Trevino assured those who thought he might be concerned over his mediocre start in the $100,000 tournament at Keller Golf Course.

"Heck, no, I wasn't disappointed," the U.S. open champion added, "I just couldn't putt. I didn't make one putt today. On the last hole, I flipped the cup and I was happy. I didn't even want it to go in. It would have spoiled my record." Somebody asked Trevino if he was going to the practice putting green after his troubles in the first round.

"Heck, no," he replied. "I'm going fishing right now with my wife and boy. I just came up here to see all my friends. I don't need the money."

Trevino estimates his U.S. Open victory this year already has netted him about one-half million dollars with more on the way.

Brokenstraw: Chuck Jones, 25; Allison Wertz, 24; Bill Darling and Leonard Kasman, 23; and Benny Muczynski, 22.

Lions Drop Ron Kramer

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions gave end Ron Kramer his unconditional release Thursday in a move Coach Joe Schmidt said was made with reluctance.

The 33-year-old Kramer, a former University of Michigan star, is now free to deal with other clubs for his services.

The 6-foot-3 240-pounder said he is still undecided about his future.

"I may make a few calls to some other clubs," he said, "but then again I may decide to call it quits and hang them up."

Schmidt said Kramer had been a great player.

"But while he has played well for us, we had to make a decision at his position," he explained. "We still have Jim Gibbons, who is 31, and Charlie Sanders, a high draft choice this year who is looking very good at the All-Star camp in Chicago."

"Sanders is only 22. We carry only two tight ends during the season."

Kramer played with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League from 1957 until he joined the Lions in 1965.

GOLF'S First Million Dollar PGA Winner

TWO IMPORTANT SWING CONCEPTS

Every serious golfer should understand the vital concepts of "clubhead path" and "swing plane." Illustration #1 shows the proper path of the clubhead in the hitting area. Note that it moves from "inside" the target line to along this line, and then it continues back inside. Never should it pass beyond the imaginary target line. If it does move outside, the clubhead must move across, rather than into, the ball during impact. An offline shot must result.

Illustration #2 shows how the plane of the swing—upright, normal, or flat—affects the level of the clubhead in the hitting area. If the swing is too upright, the clubhead is not at ball level long enough to assure consistently solid contact. If the plane is too shallow, the clubhead will be at ball level for a relatively long period. However, the golfer's swing will be so flat that the clubhead will not move along the target line long enough.

Five Lesser Lights Lead Golf Classic

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Five of the pro golf tour's lesser-knowns led a par-breaking assault on Keller Golf Course Thursday to share the first round lead in the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic.

Pete Brown, one of the few Negroes on the tour, was the first to finish with a five-under-par 66, but by day's end J. C. Sneed, nephew of old pro Sam Sneed, and Jim Colbert, Harry Toscano and Australian Bob Stanton had tied him.

In all, 50 of the field of 156 golfers bettered the par of 71 on Keller's 6,702-yard layout. Another 28 matched par.

Tom Weiskopf, the top money winner in official PGA standings this year, was tied with Dave Eichelberger and Monte Sanders for sixth with 67.

Seven more were tied for ninth at 68, including former champion Ray Floyd. Among another 18 tied at 69 was defending champion Lou Graham.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino soared to a three-over 74 because of putting trouble and faces a stiff challenge Friday to survive the cut which will reduce the field to the low 70 pros plus ties.

Weiskopf and Trevino are the only golfers among the top 14 money winners this year who are competing here.

Parks Joins The Saints

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Dave Parks says he played out his option as a split end for the San Francisco 49ers and signed with the New Orleans Saints because the 49er's front office gave him a runaround over his contract.

"I don't really want to knock them," Parks said Thursday at the Saints' training camp at Cal. Mornia Western University, "but I was glad when my option ran out" last May.

"I think I gave them three years of pretty fair football," the 6-foot-2, 207-pound Texan said.

Parks said he waited in vain for other NFL teams to contact him after his option expired.

He signed with the New Orleans club for a reported $60,000.

Julius Joins Golf Elite

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Julius Boros' 1968 PGA championship victory at San Antonio, Tex., has given him a spot in golf's most elite foursome — the seventh annual World Series of Golf at Firestone Country Club here Sept. 7-8.

The 48-year-old Boros, oldest player ever to win the PGA championship, joins Masters champion Bob Goalby, U.S. Open winner Lee Trevino and British Open king Gary Player in the 36-hole competition for golf champion of the year honors.

This will be his second appearance in the World Series. As U.S. Open champ in 1963, he fired a 141.

TORNADO DAMAGE

A tornado which struck Tryonville Wednesday about 11:30 a. m. ripped away the front porch of this residence and blew down a two-story cement garage. The family's new car which they have had only two weeks was parked in a driveway beside the garage and received only minor damage. Ceilings in the house were buckled and windows smashed out. The storm dissipated within a few minutes. (Titusville Herald Photo)

Tornado Hits Small Village Near Titusville; Damage High

Titusville — A tornado ripped through the small village of Tryonville Wednesday, smashing homes, knocking over huge trees and snarling power lines. No injuries were reported but damage will run into thousands of dollars.

The storm hit about 11:30 a. m. It came sweeping down through a hollow from the north cutting a wide swath through a wheat field and flattening an apple orchard. A tin roof on one barn was ripped away and pieces of it hurled several hundred feet.

At another residence a front porch was ripped off and a cement block garage smashed.

After dipping briefly into the village, the storm dissipated within minutes. Work crews from the state highways department and Northwest Rural Electric Co-op were on the scene shortly after the storm, clearing the highways of debris and repairing electrical wires.

The U. S. Weather Bureau

office in Erie said radar reports showed two high-pressure storm areas in western Pennsylvania Wednesday, one detected southwest of Bradford and apparently the one that slammed into Tryonville.

Dr. Israel Conducts Conference

ERIE—Dr. Robert H. Israel, superintendent of Warren State Hospital, conducted a conference earlier this week at the institution dealing with new commitment procedures for mentally disabled persons.

Erie County Judges Edward H. Carney and Lindley R. McClelland and District Atty. William E. Pfadt were among those who attended the conference. Judges and district attorneys from nine Northwestern Pennsylvania counties participated. Alexander C. Flick, judge of Warren and Forest counties, also presided.

New commitment procedures for the mentally disturbed were explained, as enacted in the Pennsylvania Mental Health Act of 1966. They will go into effect next July 1.

Also, a judge's signature may no longer require emergency 48-hour commitment of a disturbed person. Instead a written application approved by the county administrator of mental health is necessary, with immediate examination at a center.

Stock Market Takes Thumping Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took another thumping loss Thursday after a morning rally fizzled.

Volume was 16.14 million shares, compared with 13.57 Tuesday, after another Wednesday recess so that brokerage firms could catch up with paper work.

Trading was vigorous at the start, and at the market's best level in the morning, gains outnumbered losses 2 to 1.

But by midsession, the Dow industrials broke below the theoretical support level of 890. They declined 12.63 to 885.47, taking their sixth straight daily loss.

It was the broadest market in New York Stock Exchange history based on a new record of 1,576 issues traded. Of these, 976 fell and 427 rose. New highs for the year totaled 42 and new lows 41.

Volunteer Worker Says U.S. Has Lost Viet War

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The populace of Vietnam knows the United States has lost the war — only the United States won't admit it, says a young American just returned from 18 months of volunteer work there. "The ordinary people — the peasants and the shopkeepers — really support the National Liberation Front," said Carl Strock, 24, of Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

The proof of this support, said Strock, who served in Vietnam with the American Friends Service Committee's VISA program (Voluntary International Service Assignment), came during the Tet Offensive and the May offensive.

Strock, who witnessed both while living with Vietnamese families in Pleiku and Saigon, said "the PLAF — People's Liberation Armed Forces — were able to move into the towns in advance" to lay in supplies and build tunnels because the people supported them.

Strock, now on assignment at the Friends (Quakers) Service Committee headquarters here, said in an interview Thursday that this support is hard for most Americans to imagine. He compared it to popular support for the French Resistance in World War II.

"The NLF is like the French Marquis and the Saigon Government is like the Vichy government in France and the Americans are like the Germans — an occupation force," said Strock, a dark-haired and dark-eyed relief worker.

Strock, who speaks Vietnamese, said usually the attitude toward the NLF—even in Saigon—is very favorable, almost like Robin Hood.

He said that contrary to American propaganda among the villagers, most described National Liberation Front soldiers (Vietcong) as polite and respectful.

Terrorism? "That's confined to the enemies of the ordinary people—like a tax collector or a military chief sent out of Saigon," said Strock.

About the military action itself, Strock said, "The war is in the last stage now. The military situation is irretrievable for the United States."

Referring to the "enclave theory" advanced some time ago by Gen. James Gavin, Strock said, "The enclaves were reached six months ago. The enclaves are not shrinking and less pressure on the NLF because of the U.S. aircraft shortage."

Viet Cong takeover of the back country of most of South Vietnam forced the shutdown of the VISA program in Vietnam, he said. Ten VISA volunteers were brought back to Saigon several months ago because of the danger to Americans outside areas protected by U.S. forces, he said.

The next battle of Saigon, he said, should be critical because of what he felt to be strong support for the Viet Cong in the slum areas of the city.

"Many of the people in the slums are refugees from U.S. bombing and have relatives in the NLF, so there's no question of whom they will support," he said. "It's just a question of hiding supplies and arms."

Area Men in Armed Service

Army Staff Sergeant Kenneth E. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Adams, Route 2, Kane, completed an airplane technical inspector course July 9 at the Army Transportation School, Virginia. During the nine-week course, he was trained in methods of inspecting and testing Army airplanes.

Local Rocky for President Movement

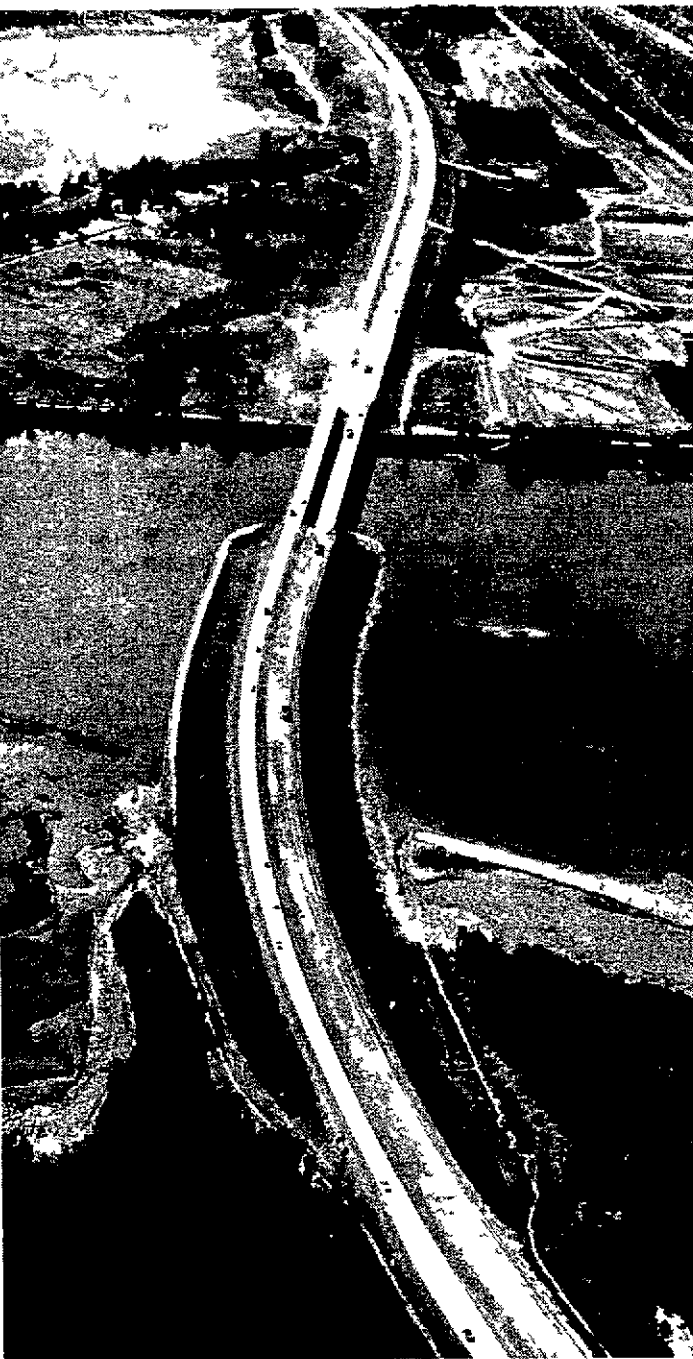

The Rockefeller for President Bandwagon will be in Warren Monday, July 29, according to William F. Clinger Jr., county chairman of the Pennsylvanians for Rockefeller Committee.

Members of the committee will be passing out campaign buttons, Rockefeller bumper stickers and literature while the bandwagon is parked at Jamesway Plaza, 9 to 10 a.m., and at the Market Street Shopping Plaza from 10 to 11 a.m.

Accompanying the bandwagon will be Richard Thornburgh, chairman of the Western Pennsylvanians for Rockefeller Committee, and James Self, executive director of the committee.

One of the primary purposes for the visit is to gather signatures of Rockefeller supporters on petitions which will be delivered to the delegates at the Republican National Convention. Clinger urges all voters in the county favoring the New York governor's candidacy to visit the van at either of its two locations.

Anyone interested in working for Rockefeller on Monday and in the time remaining before the convention is asked to call Clinger at 723-8660.

NAACP Convention Set

ERIE.—The 34th convention of the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will be held in Erie Oct. 25 to 27.

Three national figures were asked to attend the three-day convention. They are Carl B. Stokes, Mayor of Cleveland; Mrs. Martin Luther King; and Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts. Mayor Stokes has indicated that he will not attend.

B. Vann Johnson, public relations director of the local chapter estimated that about 250 adults, 200 students and Erie chapter members will attend.

Workshops are tentatively scheduled in the fields of education, employment, and health. Plans will be finalized during a meeting of state representatives during the first week of August.

Delegates Back McCarthy

ERIE.—The three-county 24th Congressional District will send two McCarthy supporters, one Humphrey "leaner" and two uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention one month from now. Elected delegates Ted T. Buczek, Erie, and Webster H. McKnight of Meadville are supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the Democratic nomination for president.

"My leanings are toward Humphrey," said Herman Horstman, also an elected delegate from the Erie-Crawford-Mercer County District. But he continued, "At this point, I'm not committed. I'll go to the convention uncommitted."

Erie County Democratic Chairman Roger M. Fischer, the top vote-getter among the four elected delegates, stated, "I am uncommitted privately and publicly."

The only appointed delegate, Erie industrialist Everett F. Zurn claims he also is not committed. He had been planning to vote for slain New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Fischer, it is generally believed, favored Kennedy before the former U.S. attorney general was gunned down. He now feels that reaching a meaningful compromise to assure a united party for the general election may be more difficult than nominating the candidate.

Suit Filed

CORRY.—A suit for $36,400 seeking payment for furnishings in the Corry Motor Lodge when it was built two years ago has been filed in Erie County Court.

The defendant named in the suit is Venture Inn of Corry, Inc., formerly the Corry Motor Lodge, Inc. of 380 East Columbus ave.

The Venture Inn owners took over the 50-unit motel, bar and dining room several weeks ago after acquiring it at a sheriff's sale and bought by the Venango Savings and Loan Association.

The new company was named in the suit since the furnishings are on the premises and the court action will determine whether they were permitted to go as part of the sheriff's sale action.

Plaintiff in the action is the Revere Furniture and Equipment of Washington, D.C., which claims it sold the furniture to Albert DiNatale, who built and operated the Corry Motor Lodge until the sheriff's sale.

Total value of the furnishings, the suit claims, was $37,657 in addition to $11,000 financing charges. The balance the firm couldn't collect was $36,400.

Youngsville Pool

Anniversary

The second anniversary of Youngsville swimming pool's opening is being celebrated this week with the addition of a new regular feature — men's swimming night.

The anniversary was marked Sunday by a hot dog roast and a birthday cake for the pool's patrons. It was also decided this week to make each Tuesday night men's night, from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m., by popular demand. There is already a ladies' night, 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays. Wednesday is set aside as adult night during the same time period.

The pool is kept heated to satisfy local water-lovers. That, plus the underwater lights, makes night swimming very popular.

INTERESTED IN HATMAKING? Well, if you are, here is another of those intriguing home courses offered by The Pennsylvania State University and it is called, appropriately enough "Hatmaking For Pleasure." The people at Penn State feel that enjoyment of your leisure time doesn't have to find expression in organized activities . . . it seems to be determined more by your individual capacity to respond to your surroundings and the capacity to create something with your hands! And hatmaking is certainly to be counted among the creative skills. The course of instruction provides all the knowledge needed for fashioning hats of fabric, straw, flowers, felt and feathers; tells you where to buy supplies; even goes into the subject of renovating and trimming hats; and, illustrates hat contours suitable for various shaped faces. Just send $1.75 to Hatmaking, Box 5000, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. Make your check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE
Folks in our neighborhood have gone hog wild on buying the new and expensive, plastic-type outdoor carpet that actually looks like real grass. We put this wonderful stuff on our concrete patio.

Now here's the problem. Since we eat out there so much very often someone will spill a plate of food, and anything oily or greasy makes a horrible spot.

Not only that, but when pulling up the carpet we find that the rubber backing is beginning to accumulate mildew. Any answer?

Tom and Gertie

DEAR TOM AND GERTIE:
I have discussed your problem with the National Institute of Rug Cleaning in Washington, D. C.

Their chemist recommends that anytime an oily substance is dropped on this type rug, to IMMEDIATELY wash it with a mild solution of detergent and warm water. And rinse thoroughly with the garden hose. If you do this right after your accident, it will not soak into the rubber backing. That's where your trouble is. OIL ROTS RUBBER!

I also discussed your problem with a representative of a company that manufactures this type of carpet and he says, "Don't give the oil a chance to get to the rubber backing. Oil does not rot rubber." So, I suggest that you scoop up the goop that contains the oil real quickly and wipe it with some paper napkins. Then use the detergent and warm water method.

About the mildew. Why don't you try pulling the carpet back, pouring some household bleach on a paper towel and rubbing the spot on your concrete porch? Household bleach is supposed to kill mildew fungus. This is a growth which grows and grows and grows . . . and that cement is porous.

Then wipe off any of that white or black fungus from the rug backing with your wetted bleach rag and leave the rug folded back for a few days until both the concrete and the carpet backing have completely dried.

Here's another tidbit. Once a month, as you are cleaning your rugs with the vacuum cleaner, whirl it out onto that outdoor carpet and clean it. You'll get all the dust off.

If you don't do this every now and then, when it rains you'll have a ring on the carpet.

I found the broom suffices, but, oh gee, does that nice vacuum cleaner do a better job with no effort on your part.

Chinese Courses At Edinboro

A course in Chinese I and II will be offered to the students at Edinboro State College beginning in September. This is the first time a major non-western language will be offered, according to Dr. John Fotos, head of the new Modern Foreign Language Department. As 1/4 of the world's population is Chinese, it is of great significance that the students of Edinboro College will be given the opportunity to study Chinese.

Mr. Harold Chou (pronounced as "Joe"), a native of Peking, China, and a member of the Hamilton Library staff, will be instructing the course.

Earning a BA from Yenching University, Peking, China and a MLS from the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Chou is currently working on his doctorate at Pitt. In August, 1967, he was appointed assistant professor and cataloger at Hamilton Library. Previously he had been a cataloger at the Duquesne University Library and an instructor of Chinese at Pitt. Mr. Chou also taught Chinese for 13 years at the Institute of Oriental Studies which is affiliated with the University at Hong Kong. He also taught English at a Chinese high school.

With a love for literature, he has translated many works into Chinese, including Short Stories by Saki (a collection of satires by H. H. Munro); Major Methodist Beliefs (by Dr. Mack B. Stokes); Short Stories From English and American Authors (including works of Maugham, Wilde, Hardy and Huxley) and for three years The Upper Room, a daily devotional guide published in Tennessee.

Often referred to as the "language of monosyllabism" the Chinese language consists of many different dialects. The national language is the dialect originating in Peking, birthplace of Mr. Chou. Today there are about 700 million people in the world who speak Chinese, as compared to the 300 million speaking English. In 1960, there were 250,000 Chinese people living in the United States. The course will be presented in many ways, including translation and writing of the picture word as well as pronunciation. Using two textbooks from Yale University, Mr. Chou will combine his experience with all methods of instruction, approaching the course with a cultural perspective.

Residing in Edinboro with his artistic wife, Daisy Chen-k'un Kuo, the Chou's have three children in the United States; two daughters and a son currently working as a PhD student of philosophy at Houston, Texas.

Twentieth Birthday Party Held For 'Fun On The Range'

The amplified voices of more than 2,000 youngsters across the state rang out the birthday song at Towanda, Pennsylvania, on Tuesday to mark the 20th Anniversary of Fun on the Range — the summer recreation program co-sponsored by Pennsylvania Electric Company, and local school and recreation authorities.

Nearly 500 persons attended the party-graduation festivities conducted at Towanda's J. F. Kennedy Center while scores of others listened and responded through a unique 24-community telephone conference hook-up.

The Fun on the Range program was originated in Towanda in 1949 by the electric company, and local recreation officials. From its first class of 14, the program has spread over the years to over 200 communities and boasts some 60,000 graduates.

Fun on the Range classes are conducted throughout the 33-county area served by Penelec. A new class is starting this coming Monday in Warren, conducted by Mrs. Evelyn Overturf, Penelec home economist. Mrs. Overturf in a telephone interview said the classes have proven so popular this year that three separate groups are accommodated each day in the Penelec kitchen.

Of the approximately 790 young culinary aspirants in this area who signed up for the five day course of study, 140 of them are boys. Mrs. Overturf noted too, that when boys are interested in the fine art of cooking, they are generally better at it than girls. Once again, bringing to mind the thought that the world's great chefs, almost without exception, are men.

The classes consist of four days of instruction and a special graduation ceremony on the fifth day, to which the students' parents and friends are invited.

Mr. Chou's experience with all methods of instruction, approaching the course with a cultural perspective.

Residing in Edinboro with his artistic wife, Daisy Chen-k'un Kuo, the Chou's have three children in the United States; two daughters and a son currently working as a PhD student of philosophy at Houston, Texas.

During the classroom instruction, the pre-teenagers are taught the use and care of the electric range and other appliances and food preparation.

Penelec in addition to providing instructors, furnishes food and cookbooks. School officials or local recreation directors usually arrange for the classes to be held in school home economics classrooms and conduct registration.

The course is conducted from June 3 to August 23 and is expected to serve about 10,000 youngsters this summer.

At the Towanda celebration, members of the first class of 14, along with one of the first instructors, were special guests. The participants there were treated to a cake measuring eight by ten feet with flickering electric candles. One hundred and seventy-five Towanda youngsters received special graduation pins and diplomas and other awards at the combination event at which Penelec president and chief executive officer Ralph F. Boyler presided. He patterned his remarks toward the 8 to 12-year-old graduates.

Mr. Boyler, a native of Towanda, cited his closeness to the program when he told of his two daughters who were among the early participants in the summer recreation program. He also talked of opportunities. "There aren't many countries in this world where a Fun on the Range program could have been born in 1949 or where kids could have this opportunity in 1968," commented Mr. Boyler.

Mr. Boyler told the pre-teen celebrants his wish for the children of the world: "That some day soon, all the children of this world will be free to have summer vacations like you boys and girls and that some day all the parents and citizens of the world will be able, if they want, to sponsor a recreation program for the community's boys and girls without having to get special permission from some place else."

Penelec Vice President Sales J. Franklin Smith served as Master of Ceremonies for the graduation — birthday celebration.

Another highlight of the event was the appearance of Ashton B. Collins Sr., of New York City, creator of Reddy Kilowatt — the worldwide symbol of electric service. Mr. Collins traced

TAKING FIRST SLICE of huge cake commemorating 20th Birthday of Fun on the Range — summer cooking and recreation program sponsored jointly by Pennsylvania Electric Company, school and recreation authorities — is Ralph F. Boyler, Penelec President. The mysterious helper in Reddy Kilowatt costume turned out to be a complete surprise to Mr. Boyler when the unmasking revealed his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Witte of Darien, Conn. Mrs. Witte was an early graduate of the program. Sharing in the ceremony was Ashton B. Collins Sr., of New York City, creator of Reddy Kilowatt, nationwide symbol of electric service. Miss Mary O'Donovan, one of the program's first instructors, is at the right. Some 500 persons attended the event Tuesday conducted at Towanda, while nearly 2,000 youngsters participated through a 24-community telephone conference call.

Plenty of Variety

CHICAGO (AP)—Piano finishes, once confined to deep red mahogany, now are changing with fashion trends.

Today, walnut leads in popularity, with cherry in second place. Mahogany, in nut-brown finish, is a close third, while maple, oak, ebony, and pecan share fourth place.

Constance Wagner, consumer education consultant, said there was a time when geography might dictate a choice of wood, finish, and even style in a piano. But this is no longer true.

"With so many Americans on the move, and with publications wielding so much influence from coast to coast, regionalism has little to do with individual taste today," she said.

KEY TO ACTING

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Actress Celeste Holm, speaking at a mental health banquet, defined the theater as a way of looking at the world.

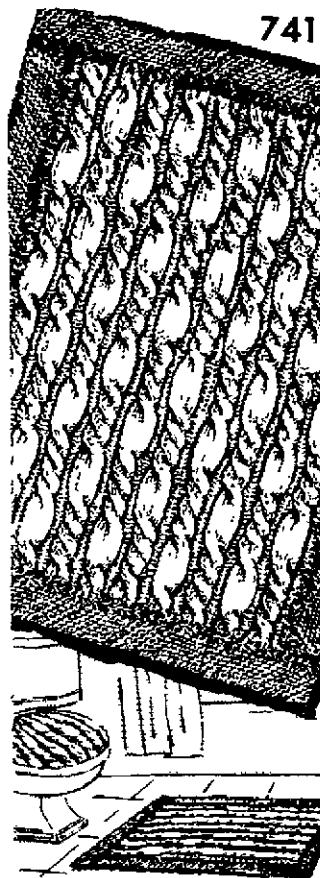

"It is a temple to people. It holds the spotlight," she said. She stressed the sense of identification between actor and actor on the stage and their responsibility to each other, the play, the writer and the audience, and the audience's responsibility.

She said an actor never hurts another actor on the stage. "The other actor is a character, a part of yourself. You need him and he needs you. We are doing the play together for an audience," she said.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several weeks ago I attended a discussion group on malnutrition in the U.S.A. I left the place depressed and determined to do something for the disadvantaged children in this country. When I arrived home there was a note from the school nurse saying our youngest boy should be taken to a physician for a checkup and put on a nourishing diet. The note said he is seven pounds underweight, has too many dental cavities, was absent from school an excessive number of days, and he needs to eat less junk and more wholesome food.

I was furious and assumed the nurse must have a grudge against our son or she would not have written such an insulting note. After all, we are an upper middle-class family, not slum dwellers.

I took the boy to the doctor the following day and learned our boy was in appalling physical condition — anemic, underweight, the works. The doctor lectured me about mothers who allow their children to develop poor eating habits. He pointed out that many children from well-to-do families are in the same boat and sent me home with literature on nutrition and the balanced diet. Please print this letter, Ann, and alert mothers everywhere to the danger of letting their children eat only what they want to. It was a shock to discover that our son was in the same pathetic physical condition as the little boys who live in shacks in Mississippi. — EXECUTIVE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Here's an open letter to mothers everywhere. What did your children eat yesterday? And what did they eat today? A word to the wise is sufficient and to the foolish, a million words are useless. Take inventory.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife has a mania for giving away, throwing out or "misplacing" other people's property. Mainly, mine. I have begged, pleaded and asked her in as nice a way as I know how, to please keep her hands off my things. She doesn't seem to hear me. Maggie insists on "straightening" my desk and "neatening" things. The next thing I know, valuable papers are missing.

When I reach for a back issue of a newspaper or magazine which I set aside for reference, she tells me she burned it two months ago. Last night I searched high and low for my bedroom slippers. When I asked Maggie if she had seen them, she said they were worn to shreds and she couldn't look at them anymore so she threw them out. I realize they were rather shabby, Ann, but it took me six months to get them really comfortable and I was pretty upset about it. I admit I'm a bit of a hoarder but shouldn't a wife respect her husband's rights in the house? — MINNE-APOLIS CQT

DEAR MINN.: When a pack rat marries a beaver-outer, there's bound to be trouble. You can't cure her but you can protect yourself by putting your papers and magazines away — out of sight. Most beavers toss out things because they are cluttering up a room. (Some women report their husbands' dens are fire hazards.) As for the bedroom slippers, that was a rotten trick. Ask Maggie how she'd like it if you threw away her old beat-up girdle. I'll bet she'll understand your feelings a lot better after THAT question.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

North's one no trump bid crowds the upper limits of the range for that call — observe that he has 18 points plus two tens. It may be pointed out on his behalf, however, that an opening bid of one club may present a rebid problem if partner responds with one diamond.

East overcalled one no trump with two spades. South's hand was worthless defensively and yet he could take six tricks at a diamond contract. Accordingly he jumped directly to five diamonds in an attempt to steal the hand from the opposition.

West was tempted to raise his partner but, inasmuch as the auction had reached an extremely elevated level and he feared that 11 tricks might exceed the offensive potential for his side, he doubled to extract some measure of compensation on the deal.

West opened the ace of spades. East felt that it was extremely unlikely that his side could cash any more spade tricks and, in an attempt to induce a heart shift, he played the king of spades under his partner's ace. East intended his play as a suit preference signal, calling for the lead of the higher ranking of the two plain suits.

West was unfortunately unaware of the urgent necessity for a quick shift in the attack, and he woefully continued with a second spade. South ruffed and led a diamond. West was in with the ace and belatedly led a heart. Dummy's ace was played and, after the king of diamonds drew the remaining trump, declarer discarded his last heart on the high clubs.

West should have made his heart shift at trick two, while he still had the ace of diamonds. The bidding made it highly improbable that South had a second spade, and besides, if East wanted a continuation, he could have given a more normal come-on with the nine, ten or even the jack of spades. His play of the king was an unnecessarily high card which could logically mean only one thing: He wanted a heart shift before it was too late.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1968
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—You must recognize your limitations, of course, but aim to increase your boundaries judiciously, through earnest, intelligent study and observation, and you will progress the sure, lasting way: Start NOW!
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—According to your properly set up program, are you up to, or behind, schedule? Side-stepping important details? Ask yourself these questions, and having answered forthrightly, make adjustments if necessary.
GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Ask yourself, like Taurus, if your program is properly drawn up. Are you following through in a valid, effectual manner? Protect your due rights and privileges through responsible action. Stress accuracy.
CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Some spectacular situations are indicated, but certain "dull" matters will require attention nonetheless. Stress clear-cut thinking, judicious penetration, level-headedness.
LEO (July 24 to August 23)—What you ordinarily do may not be the thing now. A favorite activity or pastime may have to be by-passed. Meet eventualities with perception and poise.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—This could be a livelier day than anticipated, but Virgoans can meet all situations with grace and agility. If day does NOT please in part, it's for YOU to work on, remedy.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Take a dignified approach to all problems now. Impersonal relationships there may be some differences to recognize, cope with.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Note the questions others ask, where they place their trust. This is not so that you may follow, but as a guide in using your own powers of evaluation.
SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—A tip-top period for achieving happiness through personal relationships — especially with family and close friends. Make this day stand out!
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Some expansion approved; retrenching needed in other areas. Be equal to your obligations. You have an innate sense of propriety; make it work potentially.
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Especially favored now: Students, teachers, technicians. Make the most of your skills and adaptability. Even if gains seem slow in coming, take all in stride.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Be discriminating in what you say and how you act now. Efforts will be judged first on content and intent, then on quality. The middle road means "safe", not just expedient.

YOU BORN TODAY are a vivacious companion and worker, though tend, at times, to sit back and enjoy the comforts you like, forgetting that time and opportunities can pass you by. Once you marshal your many talents and emphasize your most endearing traits, you can reach a high position and retain your friends along the way. But the Leoite often battles his friends even when he least expects to. Curb that impulsiveness! One thing sure: You staunchly defend both principles and persons against many odds. You are idealistic, expressive; would make an excellent writer or worker in humanitarian causes. TENDER, LOVING CARE
Poor circulation due to hardening of the arteries leaves the leg tissues in a precarious condition. Any abuse may further reduce the blood flow leading to pain and gangrene. It is for this reason that the elderly should treat the feet with "tender, loving care."

Good hygiene involves keeping the feet clean by washing daily with warm (not hot) water and a bland soap and drying thoroughly. Massaging gently with cocoa butter or lanolin will prevent cracking and scaling. Shoes and socks that fit well discourage blisters and corns.

The feet may be injured in various ways. Mishaps often occur while trimming calluses or the toenails. A steady hand and good vision are needed, but many oldsters lack these attributes. They should consult a physician or a chiropodist for a professional job.

Never use a strong antiseptic to treat ringworm or other foot infections. Victims of poor circulation should not wear round garters or sit with the legs crossed for long periods of time. These do's and don'ts sound trivial but most of the gangrene patients I have seen did not follow them.

When heat is applied to a normal foot, healthy vessels open up and deliver extra blood required by increased metabolism. Narrow or plugged arteries, however, are unable to do so, and the tissues die of starvation.

This takes place faster than many people realize. Grand-ma may develop gangrene overnight by the overzealous use of a heating pad, lamp, or hot water bag. Infection, injury, and chemical burns have the same effect on circulation.

TOMORROW: Grit and Grind.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

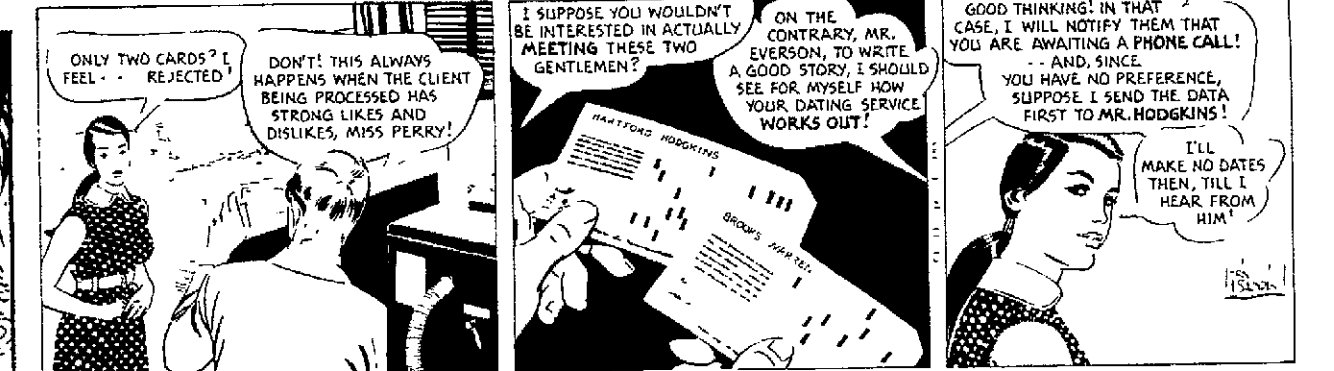

KNEE DERANGEMENT
M.G. writes: Would you please discuss the difference between a break and a dislocation of the knee? I always thought fractures were more serious but now I know that this thinking was incorrect.

REPLY
It is not unusual for a person to reevaluate an illness after he becomes a victim. A fracture involving the joint surface is more serious because the callus that forms is likely to interfere with action of the knee. A dislocation usually occurs when the fibrous capsule surrounding the joint gives way. This causes distress and, furthermore, if healing does not occur, surgery may be needed.

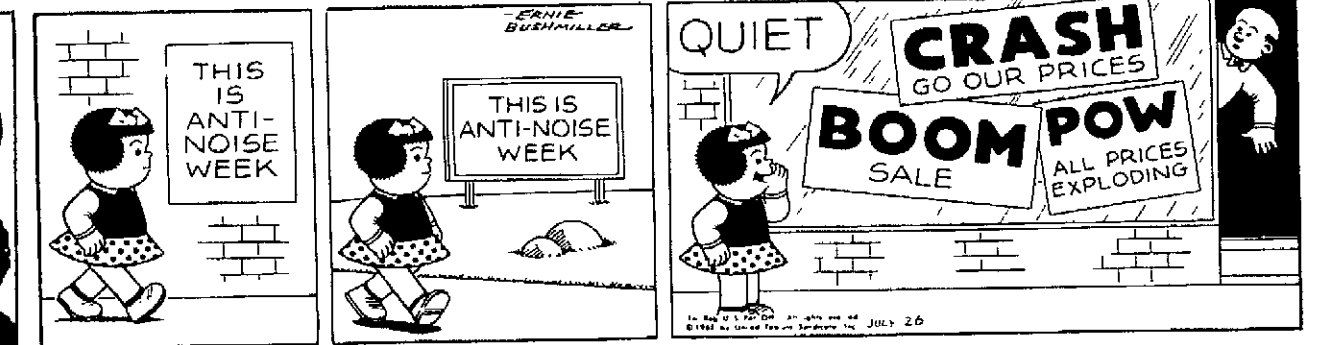

CALCIFIED AORTA
H.O. writes: Sometime ago I was told that I had calcium in the aorta. Is this a serious condition? Please tell me what can be done about this.

REPLY
The calcium is part of the hardening process. It is evidence that you have hardening of the arteries, but it does not mean that circulation in this vessel is impaired. The true significance of this finding depends upon whether other vessels are involved and curtailing the supply of blood to major organs.

JOYCE CASTLE De VIRGILIO

'Tales of Hoffman' At Chautauque Friday

Chautauque, New York—The largest production of the Chautauque Opera Association this season and the most extravagant display of voices will be "Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach to be presented in Norton Hall tonight (Friday) at 8:30 o'clock and repeated on Monday, July 29. The production stars Nicholas Di Virgilio as Hoffman, Joyce Castle as his companion, Nicklaus, and Clifford Harvuot as Papertutto and Lindorf. Also featured will be Heather Thomson, Robert Cowden, Sharon Bennett and Edward White.

"Tales of Hoffman" was Offenbach's masterpiece and it depicts three tragic love affairs of the great poet Hoffman. Each love affair brings to the stage new characters, new scenes and new voices. Joyce Castle is well known to those who enjoy Chautauque's opera since this is her third season with the company. She sang two leading roles in this year's production of Puccini's two operas, "Il Tabarro" and "Gianni Schicchi" (July 19).

Clifford Harvuot who sings a double role in "Tales of Hoffman" is a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company and has sung many roles with the Chautauque company. Nicholas Di Virgilio in the starring role of Hoffman is another Chautauque favorite. The role of Hoffman is a familiar one to Mr. DiVirgilio since he has performed it several times — most recently with the San Francisco Opera Company. In January of this year he made his European debut in "Carmen" with the Belgian National Opera Company at the Theater de la Monnaie in Brussels.

The role of Franz is played by Robert Cowden. Mr. Cowden made his professional debut at Chautauque several years ago in the opera company's production of Floy's "Wuthering Heights." He is returning this season not only cast in two roles, but also to take up a newly-created position of Assistant to the Director. Mr. Treash, Mr. Cowden brings to Chautauque skills in three capacities, that of singer, teacher, and opera director.

HISTORY OF TIDIOUTE

Walking the Streets of Long Ago

By LOIS MCCLOSKEY

After a week of rest we are ready to continue our walk on the streets of long ago, and to identify as many of the homes as possible. This week we are continuing west on Main street, after finishing the right hand side of the street as far as Walnut st., we go back to the intersection of Evans and Main st. on the river side of the road.

First is the home of McGee, then S.H. Evans and R. Straight. This may be the same Straight who later lived in the corner house opposite the Free Methodist Church. There was an Edith Straight who at one time taught in the grades of Tidioute school. This corner house was at one time the location of an early Tidioute newspaper, and later a store.

Straight's next door neighbor was a J. McFadden, then came the home of the Babbitts. There were two sons, Silas, and M. Babbitt who ran a livery stable here. His home was just west of the VFW building and is now occupied by the Duane Downey family. This Babbitt had two daughters, Lillian, an accomplished musician, who married Charles Tompsett and Mabel who married his brother Harold Tompsett. To our knowledge Silas never married and continued to live in his old home until his death. This house is located just east of the former home of Russell (Dan) Anderson and his sister Anna Anderson.

Continuing west were the homes of another McGee, H.M. Parshall, an unnamed house, then D. Baker and a Mrs. Morrison, directly across the street from the present home of William Konkle.

Next are two large properties of Jahu Hunter. These perhaps are the home of the late J. J. Bourquin whose first wife was a sister of Hunters. Next is a very large garage-barn and then the stately mansion of Jahu Hunter and his family.

Hunter had two children, Lella who died at the age of 11 and Livingston Legrand who died in 1903 in a river boat fire on the Ohio River. Jahu Hunter's wife was Margaret Magee of pioneer stock. L. L. Hunter's wife was Lillian Acomb, daughter of Dr. Acomb one of Tidioute's earliest doctors. Their family consisted of Lella Mae, (Mrs. W. F. Clinger) of Warren, Livingston, Dorothy, wife of the late Marshall UI, who now lives in Cleveland and Jahu.

According to the biography of Jahu Hunter, who originally lived across the river on what is still known as the Hunter farm, had just completed his first spacious home on the present property when it burned to the ground, then he built the present home, which is still the property of the Hunters and is used as a summer home. It is the last of the old mansions built here before 1900, which still remains the same as it originally was with the spacious grounds and shrubbery kept in perfect order.

It was a pleasant sight to see lights on in the house last week, and during the day two large American flags waved in the breeze at the entrance to the home.

West of Walnut street, which extended to the river at one time, was property owned by the Economy Society and another that of Beaty and Wilson. Next was the home of Mrs. Dawson, mother of W. R. Dawson, then J. Fuellert and a J. Patterson on what was once the east corner of Chestnut st. and now a part of the Tidioute school.

On the right side of the street coming west from Walnut were homes of P. P. Garrett, W. McGuire which is now the home of Mrs. Jack Wolfe, and the home of a J. Dawson which appears to be located about where the former Charles Carnahan home stood. The Carnahan home was built by W. R. Dawson as a wedding gift to his daughter Mary when she married Wallace Brown one time part owner of the Cutlery Co. here. The family later moved to Bradford and opened a cutlery plant there.

On Jefferson st. right side, between Walnut and Chestnut were located the homes of G. L. Benney, J. Tonkin, H. Thornburg, J. Parshall and P. McCay. From here to McGuire street were first the home of a S. Evans, then the Union school, long since removed and now the property and home of George Atkin

Jr. On the corner was the property of a J. Parshall. The modern home of Fred Barr now occupies this corner. Parshall also owned a large property on the left hand side of Jefferson covering about half of the area between Walnut and McGuire st.

At this time there were just two houses in the block between Chestnut and McGuire st. on Main st. On the McGuire st. corner was one time the home of a J. Slocum, however it also was the site of the old Snow Inn, later the Jury home. It has long since been removed and now a modern home belonging to the Edward Alberth family stands there. Next to the Slocum house just to the east was the home of a B. German which may be the present home of Clyde Dashihausen. Many years ago a Mr. Barich who had a wagon shop here, lived there with his son Edward and daughter Edith. In the early 1900's Barich moved his shop to Warren. All of the rest of this block was vacant until it became the site of the Hunter Memorial School dedicated in 1905.

On the left side of Main and Chestnut was the popular store of J. J. Bourquin who sold dry goods, groceries, hardware, furniture and had the famous penny candy counter where we used to spend our hard-earned pennies. Next the map indicated property belonging to B. German; next the spacious home of W. H. Mable now owned by Mrs. Lucille Brady. Occupied now by George P. Sheckler is the old home of W. W. Hague on the left corner of McGuire st., while in the rear of this home was the home of a W. Parshall and land owned by him extending to the river bank.

In Hinduism, karma, the doctrine of consequences, holds that virtuous acts always are rewarded; evil acts will be punished. If sins are not paid for in the present life they will be paid for in another, as the soul migrates from one body to the next.

THS Class of 1948 Holds 20th Reunion

The Tidioute High School class of 1948 held its 20th reunion at Collage Inn, Pleasantville, on Saturday night, July 20 with 14 of the original class in attendance. All 25 members of the class are still living.

Among those attending, all are from Tidioute unless otherwise specified: John Atkin, Levittown, Pa.; Monah Atkin Flasher, Grace Benner McKown, Barbara Buckingham Gerus, Watchung, N. J.; Evelyn Bosko Benedict, Garland, Pa.; Zo Ann Carnahan Nicholson, William Hunter, Warren, Pa.; Betty Knight Rayback, Roy McManigle, Houston, Missouri; Jack Schall, Middletown, N. Knight in Hospital

Herman Knight Sr. of 21 First street, entered the Veteran's Hospital in Erie on Thursday for observation and tests. He will be happy to hear from his friends during his stay there.

Hennesseys Purchase K's Inn

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hennessey, formerly of 705 Cornplanter Place, Warren, have purchased K's Inn on Route 62 Tidioute. They opened for business on Tuesday, July 23 at H's Inn, and have posted the following new hours: From 8 a. m. to 1 a. m. Monday through Thursday, and from 8 a. m. to 2 a. m. Friday and Saturday, giving the public six full days of service.

Now, for the first time in the history of this Inn, you will be able to get a fine breakfast and lunch served informally. The dining room will be open every night from 5 p. m. to 9 p. m. for dinner.

Mrs. Genevieve Hennessey, who is an experienced cook, will be presiding at the range and plans to introduce many new items on the menu. She is of Italian parentage and specializes in unusual Italian delicacies.

Our first sample of her culinary skill was an Italian meat ball shaped like a croquette and then deep fat fried. These should be popular as hors d'oeuvres.

The Hennesseys plan to cater to special parties, reunions, clubs and various organizations. These groups will be able to enjoy organ music while they dine as both Mrs. Hennessey and her oldest daughter Frances play their electric organ.

This week the family is moving into the renovated apartment in the rear of the Inn with their daughter Rosemary and son Robert A. Frances, who is married to Gail Hubbard, will be living in their trailer on the Inn property. Hubbard will be assisting Hennessey at the bar.

THE PURPOSE of the said sale, is to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs thereon as the said taxes are returned for the year 1966. The said sale will be held at the Court House in the Borough of Warren, Warren County, Pennsylvania.

MONDAY, AUGUST 5th, 1968 AT 9:00 A. M. EDST

After the sale of the property of lands has been confirmed by the Court, where the bid exceeds the taxes, interest and costs, as aforesaid, the purchaser will make and execute to the said Treasurer, for the use of the persons entitled to a bond for the surplus money that may remain after satisfying the paying of all taxes, interest and costs.

Steelworker Head Makes First Progress Report

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United Steelworker president I.W. Abel Thursday called a meeting of the union's Basic Steel Industry Conference for Monday to give them their first progress report on steel negotiations.

The presidents of 600 locals can either accept or reject the "report on joint negotiations with 11 major steel companies", and even schedule a walkout of 388,000 steelworkers when the current contract expires at midnight, next Wednesday.

Abel's announcement was brief, and gave no hint that his report may contain a specific industry offer to lay before his men. It said only that the conference, to meet here at 2 p.m., "is empowered to make major decisions for the union."

Up to now Abel has joined with management in maintaining a tight news blackout and he wasn't tipping his hand in advance.

A report on negotiations has long been awaited from grumbling rank-and-file leaders as they worked over minor contract language and local grievances with management.

Before Abel's announcement there was an air of optimism and pessimism mixed with frustration while the secret talks ground on relentlessly.

No one knew for sure whether industry had made any kind of money offer, and this in-the-dark condition triggered a drive to block any extension of the current pact.

"If there's going to be a strike, we want it right now," said John McManigal, president of the 8,000-man Local 1397 at Homestead, Pa. He already has more than 50 signatures on a circulating petition.

The pattern in steel is to negotiate right down to the deadline hour and that's the way it seems to be going. There had been extensions in 1965, ending in peaceful agreement, and in 1959, which failed to prevent a 116-day strike, the last of eight USW walkouts since its founding 32 years ago.

If some sort of steelmen-or-extension doesn't come by Monday, the costly process of cooling the huge furnaces in the

Head-on Crash Kills 2 Women

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Two persons were in serious condition and two others fair Thursday after a head-on collision that killed two women.

Killed were Mary Ellen Schlenke, 50, of San Lorenzo, Calif., and her sister, Elsie Kreger, 55, of Markleton in Somerset County.

Mrs. Schlenke had come from California to attend her 1938 high school class reunion.

The sisters were in an auto that collided with another car early Thursday at the intersection of Pennsylvania 53 and 653.

The occupants of the other car were Mr. and Mrs. James E. Miller of Somerset. Riding with the sisters were Mrs. Schlenke's husband, Albert, 53, and Calvin Paul Zufall, also of Markleton. All were hospitalized.

Johnsen Ranks 5th In Nation

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Johnsen, 1937 Market Street ext., Warren, have returned from a four day stay at Pocono Manor Inn, Pocono Mountains, and a one day tour of International Correspondence Schools headquarters in Scranton.

Each year ICS honors the top fourteen men in their U.S. field organization at the annual Century Club Conference, which provides the time and place for public recognition of those representatives at the very top — the officers and board of directors. Johnsen was elected chairman of the Board of Directors, due to his production for 1967, being the fifth top producer of over 550 field representatives in the United States.

The topic of this year's discussion sessions was Industrial Business, the report of this session will be circulated to the field representatives over the signatures of the Century Club officers and board of directors.

Representatives of this year's conference were from the four corners of the U.S., Washington, California, Florida and Maine, with the balance from the middle parts of the country. Johnsen is one of two from the Northeastern part of the U.S.

This is Mr. Johnsen's 26th year with I.C.S., the oldest and largest home study institute in the world.

Drowning Death Ruled Accidental

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — A certificate of accidental death was issued here Wednesday by Coroner Frederick H. Hitchcock in the drowning of Carl R. Lindahl, 35, of RD 1, N. Main street. Lindahl's fully-clothed body was discovered floating in Chautauque Lake near Celoron Sunday by members of the County Sheriff's department lake patrol while on routine patrol. An autopsy performed showed Lindahl's death was caused by drowning, Hitchcock said.

House Stands Firm on Legislation To Penalize Student Rioters

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The House stood firm Thursday for cutting off federal loans and grants to students who take part in serious campus riots.

The curb on funds for student rioters was written into a $5 billion two-year program of federal aid to colleges and universities that was passed Thursday by the House.

A similar curb on rioters had been voted by the House in May, after the Columbia University riots. But, heeding the pleas of the administration and many educators, the House Education and Labor Committee had sought to soften the earlier restriction.

Instead of a mandatory cutoff of funds, the committee proposed that colleges and universities be permitted to suspend federal aid to those who engage in campus disturbances "of a serious nature."

Overriding the committee proposal the House voted, 259 to 147, to require college officials to shut off federal funds to students whose actions were "of a serious nature and contributed to the disruption of the administration of such institutions."

More than 1.4 million students — one fourth of all college students in the U.S. — now receive about $1 billion a year in loans, fellowship payments, scholarships and work-study grants.

In proposing the mandatory curb on student rioters, Rep. William J. Scherle, Iowa, told the House:

"I can't for the life of me understand why the taxpayers should be forced to finance illegal activities at colleges and universities."

Too many college administrators, he went on, "don't have the intestinal fortitude to expel students."

The House also voted to deny federal funds to any student within three years of his conviction of a crime stemming from participation in a campus riot.
